London Conference Opens February 23

New Parley May End Deadlock Between West, Russia on Arms

Ten-Year Dispute Set for Five Powers

LONDON (Reuters) — A five-power disarmament conference which opens here February 23 will start with East and West apparently nearer to breaking their deadlock on the subject than at any time since the war.

But the 10 years of trying to reach a settlement with the Soviet Union on the question of control over atomic and hydrogen arms production has made British diplomats wary of predicting success.

The forthcoming conference, under United Nations auspices, will be attended by representatives of the big five atomic powers: Britain, France, the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union. Its outcome will be reported back to the disarmament commission of the United Nations.

Best omen for the conference is that, for the first time, the Soviet Union has agreed to discuss an Anglo-French plan covering both conventional arms and weapons of mass destruction.

SET AS BASIS

Three months ago at the United Nations, the then Soviet delegate, the late Andrei Vishinsky, accepted the Anglo-French plan as the basis of discussion for a further disarmament conference. Vishinsky made it clear, however, that the Soviet Union was not committed to the Western proposals and intended to submit others of its own.

The Soviet Union consistently has demanded that banning of weapons of mass destruction should be the starting point of world disarmament. While agreeing that international teams should have access to all countries, including the Soviet Union, to see that the ban is carried out, it has balked at the idea of giving the teams powers as wide as the Western nations want.

The Anglo-French plan, for instance, provides that the teams should have complete freedom of access to inspect any production centres which they wish to see. Their very title, "control organ," shows that their role would be more than one of mere passive inspection.

BULLETINS

LONDON (AP)—Otto Strasser, former high-ranking collaborator of Hitler, was taken into custody by British immigration officials when he landed at London airport today after a flight from Montreal. The home office said he had been "refused permission to enter Britain" and that he would be put aboard an airliner leaving for Zurich, Switzerland, later this morning.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Raymond N. Foxgord, charged with attempted extortion, was acquitted here late Thursday when Judge James McGeer ruled the Crown had failed to proved intent.

Her Child Is Gone

Defiant Liberal Back in House

Royal Commission Set Up To Probe Gibson's Charges

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

Repeated charges of irregularities in the issuance of forest management licenses resulted yesterday in the appointment of a Royal Commission of investigation.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced to a hushed house at the opening of yesterday's sitting that Vancouver county court Judge Arthur E. Lord has been appointed a commissioner for the purpose of looking into the charges.

"Allegations have been made in the legislative assembly that there has been impropriety in connection with the issuance of forest management licenses," Mr. Bonner read from an order-in-council passed at a hasty cabinet meeting yesterday morning. The commission will ascertain "whether or not there is any truth in such allegations and whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of forest management license."

The appointment is the culmination of an unprecedented series of events which result in the "naming" of Lillooet Liberal Gordon Gibson during Wednesday's sitting.

Mr. Gibson refused to withdraw charges that "money talks" in forest management license dealings. The previous day he had said that "somebody paid something to somebody," and that he could not believe "money did not change hands."

But Mr. Gibson was back in his place yesterday. The attorney-general's Wednesday motion that the rules be suspended to give him the opportunity to consider his decision resulted in his being allowed to return today.

The big Liberal yesterday called the appointment of a commissioner "a great victory" for the Liberal group. He also was unrepentent of the fact he had been the first MLA in the history of the B.C. legislature to be "named" and dismissed from the house.

He said he returned to his seat because he was "invited back by the Speaker."

"They must feel somebody blundered," he said.

Mr. Gibson was informed by House Clerk Edwin de Beck that he was entitled to take his seat. His case has not actually been disposed of but it is likely

Victim Struck Dumb

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police ran into a new stumbling-block Thursday in their investigation of the mystery blast that almost took the life of Jacob Leonhard, 37.

Detectives said the near-victim of an attempted gangland assassination was unable to talk due to paralysis of his speech mechanism.

Doctors attending Leonhard also said his condition is "much more serious" than suspected. They said he has a broken back, and may suffer loss of his broken right leg as a result of circulation stoppage.

Leonhard escaped death Tuesday night when a booby-trap explosion shattered his late model car, hurling pieces of metal over neighboring houses and shattering windows of surrounding homes.

Police said the search for the persons responsible for the blast was "definitely confined" to the Vancouver area.

Damage caused by the bomb-blast was placed Thursday at "between $5,000 and $6,000."

Today's Chuckle

*What Has Ears But Can't Hear?

The federal government, provincial Liberals and the provincial government itself were the subjects when Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi unloosed a grab bag of rhymes, puns and jokes in the legislature last night.

"Ottawa may have its Howe, but B.C. has know how," he said.

"Ottawa may have its Winters, but we have our Sommers," he added.

On his road building he said, "Phil fills them in with fills."

During his trip to Scotland, when he was told only Scotsmen could enter a room in a palace, Mr. Gagliardi said he became P. A. MacAroni.

To cap it all off, the B.C. political situation became:

"There's nothing wacky in Bennett, there are no gags in Gagliardi and Laing rhymes with bang which is another word for a big noise."

Diefenbaker Lashes Out

Immigration 'Despotism' Under Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker Thursday charged the immigration department with arrogance, abuse of authority and despotic and high-handed methods.

The Progressive Conservative member for Prince Albert also renewed in the Commons his party's demand for a Royal commission into the immigration department, already rejected at this session by the government.

Mr Diefenbaker based the bulk of his attack on the fact that would-be immigrants barred entry to Canada are not given the reasons for being turned back.

He said there is bound to be some injustice and bumbling in the immigration department but "it is the first time bumbling has become the cornerstone of a policy."

Immigration Minister Pickersgill, in a two-hour speech, said some information about applicants who might be considered a danger to Canada's security comes from "sources not under government" on the understanding that the information is confidential and will not be made public.

That was one of the reasons, he said why his department does not make public the reasons for rejecting immigrant applications.

The questionnaire which applicants must answer pries into their private lives, he said. If an application were rejected, that in itself was bad enough without having to disclose the reasons to lawyers or to relatives now in Canada.

The disclosure might be used for purposes other than trying to have the ruling reversed, he added.

Mr Diefenbaker, speaking during a Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government on its immigration policy and administration, said no greater calumny has ever been leveled against the legal profession.

He charged that Mr. Pickersgill has made a worse mess of the immigration department than the "mess" he inherited from Hon. Walter Harris, now finance minister.

He quoted Chief Justice W. B. Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court as saying that "immigration officials are fooling the public."

That attitude extends to the most senior officials of the department, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Court Crackdown Hits Bootleggers

(Special to the Colonist)

NANAIMO—A crackdown on bootleggers in Nanaimo was promised yesterday by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, who declared he was "playing no favorites" in efforts to stop the illegal liquor traffic.

In police court he told two taxi drivers and a woman taxi dispatcher, all convicted on bootlegging charges, that a second offense would bring an automatic nine months in jail.

Harry Lomas, driver for Eagle Taxi, Edward Miller, driver and Mrs. Gladys Ballam, dispatcher for City Taxi, were each fined $400 when they pleaded guilty to charges.

"Considerable trouble has been caused lately with the supply of liquor to Indians and juveniles," said Magistrate Beevor-Potts.

He said another locality (Chinatown) has often been blamed for selling bootleg liquor, but he and the police have suspected for some time that most of the bootlegging done in town was "within 200 yards of my office."

"You people are much worse than the Chinese," he told accused. "You are all educated and are in a position of public trust. I hope the police will continue their work so that others involved may be found."

TO BE STOPPED

"We are going to stop this sort of thing," he declared.

"You know what I gave to a Chinese this week for a second offense," he said. "You'll get the same thing for I'm playing no favorites."

(Earlier this week Magistrate Beevor-Potts sentenced Mah Bing, a pint-sized elderly Chinese often called "Dempsey," to nine months in Oakalla and also imposed a $400 fine.)

Evidence was presented in court that Mrs. Ballam sold liquor to two members of the RCMP January 30. Lomas was accused of a similar offense February 6 and Miller on February 13.

Another Princess In News

LONDON (UP) — Britons who delight in "talking up" royal romances have found a stand-in for their favorite, Princess Margaret, who is busy touring the British West Indies.

She is Princess Alexandra, 18-year-old cousin of Margaret and Queen Elizabeth, who until now has been free from the chatter of "court circles" reporting new romances and "palace sources" denying them.

Alexandra, daughter of the late Duke of Kent, who died in 1942, and the Duchess of Kent, stands ninth in line to the British throne.

She flew to Northern Ireland yesterday, her third visit in less than a year to the stately Ulster home of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn.

The duke and duchess have a 21-year-old unmarried son—and the tongues began wagging even though the Marquess of Hamilton is in Germany on duty with the elite Grenadier Guards.

Trial Judge Ponders Rebuttal

VANCOUVER (CP) — An important decision regarding rebuttal in the Lawrence Vincent murder trial was being made overnight by Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Vincent is facing his third trial for murder in the slaying of Donna Lee Corbett, 12, strangled at Quesnel in September, 1953. He was convicted the first time and won a retrial.

In the second trial the jury became deadlocked.

Chief Justice Farris said at the end of Thursday's session the case would probably go to the jury Saturday.

The defense concluded its case Thursday and the Crown made application to introduce rebuttal evidence.

The chief justice said he wished to consider the application overnight. "It is essential that everything be done to safeguard the accused."

Nationalists Sink Red Landing Craft

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The defense ministry said Nationalist warcraft sank seven Communist landing craft in a sea battle early today between Nanchishan and Matsu islands northwest of Formosa.

The ministry said the Nationalist warships shot up a Communist convoy.

Three Red gunboats were set on fire and "possibly sunk," the ministry added. It said the gunboats were between 200 and 300 tons each.

The battle still was in progress at noon, (11 p.m., EST), Thursday the ministry said.

With the Tachens abandoned to the Reds, the Nationalists now consider Nanchishan their northern anchor.

It lies 22 miles off the Red China coast, about 12 miles north of Formosa.

Matsu is a Nationalist-held island blocking Foochow port northwest of the northern tip of Formosa.

The sea action followed on the heels of an artillery exchange to the south in the Quemoy area.

Britain To Make Hydrogen Bombs

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Thursday night announced her decision to make hydrogen bombs in order to help prepare against the "risk of a world war and so prevent it."

The disclosure came in the annual government report on defense planning. It did not say whether production had started or, if so, when an H-bomb would be tested.

After pointing out the United States and Russia are producing thermonuclear weapons, the report said: "The United Kingdom also has the ability to produce such weapons. After fully considering all the implications of this step, the government have thought it their duty to proceed with their development and production."

Prime Minister Churchill has told the House of Commons that he believed the U.S. Pacific atoll tests were more likely to produce peace than war. This theme ran through Thursday night's announcement.

Riddle Solved Without Help

LONDON (BUP) — Defense Minister Harold MacMillan said yesterday that Britain cracked the riddle of building hydrogen bombs without American or other outside help.

Highway Appropriation Sets Provincial Record

The largest appropriation in the history of the province for highway construction and maintenance—about $44,000,000 this year—was announced last night by Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

Of this amount, $30,888,680 will be spent on capital construction and $13,104,543 on maintenance.

He said emphasis will be placed this year on elimination of level crossings and of bridges by putting in fill where possible.

Mr. Gagliardi defended the purchase of a second-hand amphibian aircraft for $49,000 (he said it would have cost $125,000 new) by saying that 50 per cent of the places he goes can only be reached by water.

Heart-Broken Mother Learns Husband Is Long-Lost Brother

HEREFORD, Eng. (Reuters) — A heart-broken 24-year-old mother of two children said Thursday night that after three years of marriage she discovered that her husband is her brother.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes said she left her husband four months ago when she found out he was the brother from whom she had been separated when she was orphaned at the age of three.

"Even if I have to work night and day I will never be parted from my two children," she said. Her lawyer announced that she will apply for an annulment of the marriage.

When Mrs. Hughes' parents died she and her brother Geoffrey were placed in different orphanages. Two years later she was adopted and her new parents changed her last name.

In 1948 she met a young man named Geoffrey Hughes at a local dance. They were married in 1951. Thursday night Mrs. Hughes said: "Just after the birth of my second child a woman told me my real name was Hughes.

"I went to the registrar of births, deaths and marriages at once and I found to my horror that Geoffrey was my brother . . .

"I parted from my husband the same morning about four months ago, and was hoping that it was all finished.

"Geoffrey was heart-broken, for he is devoted to the children. But we have never been together since. I don't know where he is."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

"CANADA FIRST." Do you proclaim yourself a Communist when you utter a slogan like that?

Some people would have us believe so. If they are right, Communism is reaching into some high places. The president of a great Canadian corporation urged in a speech that Canada quit feeding raw materials to other countries, and build up her own [illegible]

What he said, in effect, was "Canada First."

The Red Labor-Progressive Party, for its own devious reasons, has long been saying that too.

* * *

The industrialist said that those who want Canada to live by sale of her natural resources are selling the country's birthright.

The Labor-Progressives urged that a halt be called to the American "grab" of B.C. resources. The two elements said roughly the same thing.

Does this mean that the Communists have established a cell among the captains of private industry? Are we to assume that Canadian tycoons have short-wave radios built into their Cadillacs, tuned to Moscow?

* * *

We may not assume anything of the kind. The "Canada First" idea—whether it is a right or a wrong idea belongs to nobody in particular. The Communists have no exclusive title to it. Even if they had, I doubt that they would sue an industrial leader for infringement of copyright.

In view of this fact, why, did the police tear down the posters placed by the LPP urging that the "U.S. Grab of B.C. Resources" be stopped?

Ostensibly, the posters were torn down because they were illegally posted within 1,000 feet of a highway.

But certain other posters, also illegally posted, were left alone. Why weren't they torn down as well?

The fact is that the "resources grab" posters were torn down because some people didn't like the opinions that were expressed on them. And they didn't like the faction which put up the posters.

What would happen if H. H. Rogge, president of the Canadian Westinghouse Co., Ltd., put up some posters urging Canadians not to sell their birthright of natural resources? I wish he would. It would be interesting to see what happened.

* * *

If all the people who say "Canada First" are under suspicion, those Liberals will need watching, too.

The government at Ottawa has a law to stop Canadians selling water power to Americans, when the price is too low and the power will be needed at home.

Are the Liberals a bunch of Reds and fellow-travelers, too? No, sir. A great many Canadians of all political faiths wants to see this country developed for the benefit of its own people.

Uncle Sam is a good neighbor. It's all right to invite your neighbor in for lunch. But you don't give him the house and yard for a gift.

Garden Notes

Friendly Birds Death on Fruit

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Very soon now, those good friends of the gardener, the birds, will begin to hanker after the spring tonic and vitamins the winter has denied them. They needn't look very far. Gooseberry and red currant buds will do to go on with and for dessert what could be nicer than a really good feed of plum and pear buds?

I like birds, but I like gooseberries too and for my money, a bud on the bush is worth two in the bird. If I can find some way of stopping them they can just go and get their vitamins somewhere else, and leave my fruit alone.

EATING GRUBS INDEED!

There are some bird-lovers who will tell you that the birds are not eating the buds at all but are going after insects and grubs concealed within them. I think this is all a lot of nonsense, for if you watch them as they work systematically along the stem of a gooseberry bush, they discard the tough, covering bud scales, and are eating the tender green centres. The trick is to find some way of discouraging them.

I think I have tried just about every remedy which has ever been suggested in the garden books. I've sprayed the bushes with the bitter-tasting extract of quassia chips, which they relished and came back looking for more. I've tried fluttering rags, aluminum bird-scarers, a stuffed owl, and even an old bicycle inner tube fixed up to look like a snake, all without any real results at all.

CAUTIOUS APPROACH

These scaring devices have only a very temporary effect. The birds sit down and look them over, then start edging cautiously forward toward the fruit buds, and when nothing happens they are all back in full force.

I know of only three remedies which really work: (a) grow all your fruit under a bird-proof cage, (b) keep a cat or two on permanent guard duty in the fruit garden, and (c) string black cotton thread all over your bushes and trees.

The fruit cage is a bit beyond the financial resources of most of us. The cat idea works well but I am inclined to think that the remedy is worse than the disease for cats can do a horrible amount of damage in a nice, soft seed bed, and a garden in which the birds are permanently banned is soon overrun with slugs and cutworms and other loathsome morsels. That leaves the cotton thread.

SILLY BUSINESS

Of all the absurd jobs in the garden, walking round and round a gooseberry bush in the mud while unwinding a spool of invisible black thread is about the stupidest. Nevertheless, it works. The birds keep bumping into something they cannot see, and it worries them. They get their toes entangled in it, and take fright, and pretty soon, they leave for a less mysterious feeding ground. You'll need miles and miles of thread if your fruit garden is a large one, but thread is cheap compared to the cost of fruit, and if you select thin, fine thread, it will have rotted by picking time and won't interfere with the harvesting of the fruit.

New System For Herring Fishing Due

OTTAWA (CP) — A new method of catching herring, which may permit fishing in what now is the off-season is being developed off the British Columbia coast.

The fisheries department said Thursday it has received encouraging reports on experiments in taking herring far below the surface. Under present methods, they are caught only in seasons when they are running near the surface.

The fisheries research board is developing a midwater trawl which uses vanes to hold it at certain depths. Catches of between 10 and 30 tons have been reported on single hauls more than 100 feet down in the Strait of Georgia.

The trawl, dragged behind a moving vessel, has been designed by Wesley Johnson, a Vancouver herring fisherman.

Hollow Laugh On Burglars

BALTIMORE (AP) Burglars smashed the window of a downtown jewelry store Wednesday night and took three watches but they still may not know what time it is. The watches had no works. They were for window display only.

They Yawned . . .

Best bloodhound and in a class by himself for looking bored was Ch. Fancy Bombardier at New York's recent Westminster Kennel Club show.

Stretched . . .

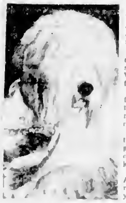
And Slept



Underneath forelocks is sleepy Ch. Cartref Toggery, old English sheep dog who won best-of-breed trophy. Judged were 2,500 dogs from Canada, U.S. and Venezuela.

U.S. Airman Loses Leg

WINNIPEG (CP)—A sad postscript was added to a dramatic northern rescue Wednesday.

Capt. Thomas L. Pittman, 34-year-old United States Air Force officer who was found alive in a snowdrift three days after a Stratojet bomber exploded 35,000 feet over northern Saskatchewan, had the lower part of his right leg amputated.

The leg was smashed in the blast.

Amazing New (Russian) Discovery May Help Add Century to Your Life

LONDON (UP) Friends, do you want to live to be 100 or 150, or even 180 years old?

Then listen to this amazing discovery, brought you by a group of outstanding Soviet scientists.

"For a long time, the question of increasing the span of life of human beings has been studied by a group of Moscow, Leningrad and Kharkov scientists. Prof. Mironov, in charge of research, says the available evidence, both historical and clinical, shows that the normal expectation of life . . . lies between 150 and 180 years."

You don't believe it?

Well, Leningrad radio said there are already 1,500 Russians who are more than 150 years old and 35,000 that are over 100.

"In this respect it is important to preserve the vitality and activity of the central brain which is responsible for the major life processes," the broadcast said.

For further information on this amazing scientific discovery send a card or letter at once to Mironov—MIRONOV in care of Radio Leningrad. There is no cost or obligation.

Integration with Other Power Goal of Ottawa Atom Planners

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal planners are trying to work out a longrange program for integrating atomic power with other energy sources in Canada.

An over-all fuel and energy policy covering all types of power is the eventual aim of an informal interdepartmental committee of top men in the federal power field.

However, informants said Thursday, it will be several months at least before the committee's studies get to the stage of general recommendations to the government. Meanwhile, it will advise on individual energy problems.

The Commons got a clue to cabinet thinking on one aspect of power coordination policy Thursday when Trade Minister Howe indicated the government is being cautious about rushing atomic energy development because of its relationship to coal produced electricity.

Stanley Knowles (CCF Winnipeg North Centre) drew Mr. Howe's attention to steps being taken by the United Kingdom to set up atomic power plants and asked him to comment on press reports suggesting that "squabbles" in the United States are delaying Canada's program.

Mr. Howe, in charge of atomic energy for the federal government, said no U.S. squabbles are holding up a Canadian program.

"The Canadian program is being pressed actively," he said, "but we are in a little different position from the U.K. in that the cost of coal in this country is considerably less than in the U.K.

"We feel that we should not attempt to develop power that will not be competitive in cost with power produced from coal."

However, he added, he expects "the time is not too far distant when we shall be able to announce a program . . ."

Mr. Howe's statement was made before a background of recurrent distress signals from the Canadian coal industry.

Relationship of coal to atomic energy, along with the effect of the newly-developed radioactive source on production of other fuels is being considered by the government's committee. It is considering coal, oil, hydro electric power and natural gas.

A major point in its studies is the regional effect of power development in one part of the country upon the economy of another part.

Labor MP Seeks To Dodge Title

LONDON (Reuters)—Anthony Wedgwood Benn, 29-year-old Labor member of parliament and heir of a peer, today starts an unprecedented battle for the right to give up the family title.

He goes before a committee of seven peers to argue that he should not be forced to become Viscount Stansgate when his father dies.

Under existing law, his father's hereditary title will fall to him and unless parliament rules otherwise he will be obliged to assume the title.

But Benn doesn't want the title because it would mean giving up his seat in the House of Commons. Such a step would kill his political career, he feels.

Mrs. Benn, who retained her American citizenship when they married in Cincinnati nearly six years ago, is supporting him.

"I don't feel that I am giving anything up," she told a reporter.

"I support my husband entirely in what he is doing and I hope he will be successful. I take seriously my husband's desire to continue his political career and he would be miserable if he had to give it up."

The seven peers—the House of Lords' personal bills committee—will decide whether Benn should be allowed to bring a bill to parliament to rid himself of the chance of succeeding to his father's title.

At first the bill was drafted so that when the present Lord Stansgate, one-time Socialist secretary of state for India, died, the title would go direct to Benn's eldest son, 3½-year-old Stephen.

This was criticized because the youngster could not express an opinion. Perhaps, some people said, he might want to be an MP.

Now Benn is proposing that when his father dies the title should be put in "abeyance." But it will go to Stephen when Benn dies.

Captain Pittman is the third of the crew of four to escape alive when the bomber caught fire and exploded at 30,000 feet on a flight from California to Greenland. The body of the fourth has been discovered. Pittman survived in 20-below zero, immobilized by his broken leg, for 79 hours, kept alive by the Arctic clothing he was testing and by sulpha pills which he carried.—(Central Press Canadian) nothing more will come of it this session now that the government has decided to appoint the inquiry commission.

Commission To Probe Charges

THE NEXT MOVE

Having been given the chance to reconsider, Mr. Gibson should make the next move [illegible] stand his ground. In the latter case, according to the Standing Orders, some member of the house would move that he be "suspended from the service of the house."

But in view of the fact that the rules have been suspended they will probably remain that way so far as his case is concerned.

The commission has been appointed under the "Public Inquiries Act." Alfred Bull, QC, Vancouver lawyer, is appointed commission counsel.

The appointment of Judge Lord is effective February 17 and he has been asked to conduct his inquiry and report to the cabinet with "the utmost dispatch."

One interesting point in the government's strategy is that Judge Lord has been instructed to investigate any possible "impropriety" in forest management licenses right back to 1947, when the system was first put into effect by a Liberal government.

EVIDENCE NEEDED

Some observers feel that it is a "put up or shut up" move on the part of the government. Mr. Gibson will now be obliged [illegible] and produce evidence to prove his charges.

But should evidence of "impropriety" be found in the earlier days of the forest management license system the whole thing could backfire on the Liberals.

Questioned in the corridors after yesterday's sitting, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said simply: "We are anxious to know what the situation is." But he would not elaborate on the appointment.

During the afternoon George Gregory (Liberal, Victoria) expressed pleasure at seeing Mr. Gibson back in his seat.

"I rejoice to observe that no member of this house is to be denied the right to express his honest convictions," he said. "I must confess that yesterday I could not repress a sickened feeling at the thought that the [illegible] denied to certain members of this house and I rejoice that it has been restored to all."

Mr. Gregory's words reflected the attitude of the Liberal group as a whole which considers both the appointment of the commission and the return of Mr. Gibson its victory.

Mr. Gibson never considered Wednesday's uproar as a question of procedure but rather as one of principle. In his mind he was not defying the authority of the Speaker so much as pressing home his charges against the government, his [illegible]

Cheap Power in B.C. May Lure Industries

British Columbia will soon be producing the cheapest power in the world, with which it will be able to attract industries from the United States and all over the world, provincial Liberal leader Arthur Laing told Oak Bay Liberals last night.

"The Canadians today are hoping to produce in B.C. a very great block of power at two mills—the cheapest in the world," he said.

"We have an opportunity here of breaking into the big time industrial field," Mr. Laing said.

He outlined the plan the International Joint Power Commission had for developing the Columbia and criticized Premier Bennett for making a separate deal which he said will bring small benefits compared with the vast potential. "Canada takes the stand that if we supply the flow we want 50 per cent of the benefits," he said.

He said 37 per cent of the hydro electrical energy produced in the United States is from the Columbia system.

Reduction in Bank Rate

ACTION by the Bank of Canada on Monday to lower its interest rate on loans to chartered banks by half of one per cent and the federal government announcement on Wednesday approving lower interest rates on insured loans under the National Housing Act are companion steps. The reduction in the bank rate is the more important because of its wide influence. This has been the first change in the bank rate in Canada for five years, and the first reduction in the rate for more than a decade. The move, of course, is government inspired, and affects first the value of federal treasury bills and other short-term obligations sold or used as collateral.

The Dominion may expect a variety of results from the alteration of the central bank rate which, serving as a base, reacts on credit throughout the whole business structure. The step would tend to lessen the present disparity between United States and Canadian currencies; stabilize the money market for federal and other prime securities; in reflection afford widening sources of credit for new business undertakings; and in general lead to a period of "easier money" but correspondingly rising prices.

There is good reason to believe that the government is interested in the reduction of the narrowing premium on the Canadian dollar, as its operation of the stabilization fund through New York has indicated. Ottawa is equally concerned about the success of this year's housing program, in which the chartered banks have undertaken to assume a large share.

The two steps, while they will be welcomed in both export and housing sections of Canadian enterprise, carry many other connotations. Cheaper money, however limited, is another resort to the device of inflation. Rising prices in the Canadian economy at home may be one result, and this could cancel out some of the external benefits of the plan and quickly.

Presumably the government has weighed the benefits and the penalties and is prepared to take the trial step. If the plan does not work it can always put the bank rate up again; though many will hope that lower interest rates on housing loans may have come to stay. Under different domestic circumstances, but in the same uneasy world, both Great Britain and the United States have made contrary moves within the last few weeks. Great Britain raised its bank rate by one-half of one per cent. The United States curbed margin buying in the stock market, and tightened federal reserve control over member banks south of the border. Both actions were curbs on inflationary pressure.

Itinerant X-Ray Unit

PUTTING a chest X-ray unit on wheels and taking it to various points where there are large concentrations of prospective subjects for examination is a splendid plan, even if not a new one. In previous years the use of mobile X-ray machines in different parts of the province resulted in a much wider coverage than can ever be attained by a "come and get it" system leaving it up to those seeking the tests to make the journeys involved.

Prevention and early detection are the keynote of the drive against tuberculosis which has produced such astonishingly good results in British Columbia and throughout Canada in the last few years; and chest X-ray examinations are the starting point of the whole campaign. By making these examinations free there is a strong inducement to everyone to take the tests as a periodic routine—but not quite strong enough. The trait in human nature towards procrastination being what it is, to many people put off the examination when it is left to them to make the move. In Victoria the X-ray clinic at the Jubilee Hospital is not far away, yet many people who believe in the value of undergoing the test somehow just don't get around to making the short trip.

In the present campaign all the traveling necessary will be done by the X-ray unit, which will visit free any firm or plant with a payroll of 100 or more. One trip by the unit will serve the same purpose as a hundred or more trips by individuals, and at the same time cut to a minimum loss of time from work or leisure. The actual examination takes only a few seconds, as against the half-hour or so each subject would have to spend in going to and from the clinic.

Besides bringing this routine examination system much closer to the complete coverage which is the aim, the mobile plan serves to show those who buy the Christmas Seals of the Tuberculosis Society part of what they are getting for their money. That in itself would be enough to make the scheme worth while, for demonstration can always accomplish more than verbal appeals.

Sound Sense at Work

THERE is no doubt that Esquimalt's plans for rebuilding Admirals Road are much more apt than formerly envisaged. They are more costly too, which one trusts will not insert a stumbling block into the scheme. When after long wooing Ottawa finally agreed to pay 75 per cent of the cost this was on the basis of an estimated $100,000 program. Now the estimate is $154,700. It would be a pity were federal authorities to boggle, however, for if a job is worth doing it is worth doing well and Admirals Road certainly needs a full treatment. This is precisely what Esquimalt council proposes.

All the way from Esquimalt Road to the municipal boundary, at which point municipal authority stops, Admirals Road will be widened to 40 feet. This is considerably in excess of the minimum Trans-Canada Highway 24-foot standard, too narrow in any case, but it is a wise provision. The military traffic on Admirals Road is large and heavy and in an emergency vehicles would require ample space to move in rapid transit. Sidewalks for pedestrians are slated, another prudent and badly needed amenity; while the Colville junction opposite the Naden gate, a bottleneck because of the railway crossing, will be tidied up and improved. All in all it is proposed to make Admirals Road a first-class road.

This stretch of road is important both to the municipality and the navy and it would be foolish to do anything less. It has been an eyesore for years as well as a hazard and a thoroughfare quite inadequate for the weight of traffic it must bear. Mere patching and tinkering would be useless; what is urgently required is the kind of full scale renovation the Esquimalt council now has in mind. It is to be hoped that Ottawa authorities, who must approve the plans, will agree without undue delay, so that work may begin at the earliest possible moment.

Interpreting the News

Different Viewpoints

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THE American decision not to urge the Chinese Nationalists to evacuate any more islands has upset Britain.

From her own standpoint, Britain has gone a good way in supporting Washington's firm attitude about the defense of Formosa.

* * *

When the latest crisis developed, Britain agreed to the defense of Formosa and government leaders firmly defended it against strong opposition in the House of Commons.

At the same time, however, they approached Russia for help in persuading Peiping to rely on political rather than military action, and devised the idea that Nationalist held islands immediately offshore should be surrendered for the sake of establishing a blue water moat between the contenders.

* * *

Now the United States, through Secretary of State Dulles' speech in New York Wednesday, has turned that down. In addition, Dulles expressed no hope for the Anglo-Russian negotiations, although the British still maintain hope themselves.

Britain is still working for an agreed cease-fire.

One difference in the position of the two allies on the offshore islands is produced by the fact that Britain does not have to worry about relations with the Nationalists, whom she does not recognize politically, while the United States does.

* * *

If the Nationalist will to resist should be seriously damaged by a drop in morale due to further surrenders following Tachen, then the United States would have to devote a great deal more strength to the defense of Formosa than she now counts upon.

British officials clearly understand these points, even if they do not agree with how the United States adds them up.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

MENTION of the Dumbells stirred old memories. One reader tells me how they scared him. Way back in 1920 he took his mother-in-law to see them and she laughed so much "I was afraid we'd have to take her home on a stretcher." Another correspondent, whose father was one of the original Dumbells, has only to shut her eyes to see Al Plunkett singing "Little Red School House" or recall Red Newman's version of "I Know Where the Flies Go."

A Bamberton lady was also intrigued. She has the music and words of old Dumbell songs like "Shufflin' Along," "Come Back, Old Pal," "Yawning" and others. As I have told him, she is ready and willing to lend them to Jerry Gosley for his Smile Show.

A news statistic discloses that the mortality rate for Canadian soldiers has been dropping steadily. In Korea the rate was half that of the last global war and one third that of the first great war. This might suggest that battlefield blood letting is going out of fashion; for instance, twice the number of men were killed on the Plains of Abraham in an hour or so than met death in Korea in 12 months of conflict.

Alas, the inference is faulty. Our troops have been lucky of late, that's all.

* * *

Apropos the foregoing some 26,000 Americans lost their lives in three years of fighting in Korea. Perhaps that seems a lot—but in the one year of 1951 some 10,000 more than that, 36,300 in all, were killed in automobile accidents. Apparently on the home front blood letting is gaining in popularity.

The attrition of the battlefield rouses the world to the point where a cease fire is eventually sounded, but a traffic-death armistice is seemingly impossible. Familiarity has brought contempt to the steering wheel.

* * *

Talking about reduced bus fares, as this column was doing a little while back, a correspondent cites the example of Coventry, where she says every pensioner gets so many free tramcar tickets each month. Together with cigarettes and tobacco at cheap rates!

I'm afraid that unfortunately Victoria's elderly pensioners are unlikely to enjoy such generosity; although perhaps the tobacco concession is overdoing things a bit.

* * *

By the way, did you hear the true story of the two Scots schoolmistresses who took 50 kindergarten children into Edinburgh for a treat—at the school teacher's expense? It happened a week or so ago, I'm told.

Filling a 52-seat bus at the terminus the ladies asked the conductor for "two fourpennies, please." All the rest of the party were under minimum age for paying even half-fare, they explained.

My, did the conductor get apoplexy!

* * *

The pros and cons of capital punishment are on the public agenda again and one mainland columnist gets in a few licks at the folk who don't want it abolished. He condemns the "eye for an eye" thesis as a pious clothing of a lust for blood. Such growls for vengeance contradict the teachings of Christ, he says.

Christ and the Bible can be invoked in suit almost any argument, I suppose. Christ wasn't wholly meek and mild, however; He could be angry when there was cause to be and once He drove money-changers out of the temple and scattered their tables and chairs. If He had a whip, as artists depict this scene, then conceivably some blood might even have flowed.

I wonder what my contemporary would do if some stranger walked up to him and punched his nose. Would he eschew an "eye for an eye" and say simply:

"Thanks, old boy. Have a cigar"?

With the Classics

. . . Earth is a wintry clod;
But spring wind, like a dancing psaltress, passes
Over its breast to waken it; rare verdure
Buds tenderly upon rough banks between
The withered tree-roots and cracks of frost,
Like a smile striving with a wrinkled face;
The grass grows bright, the boughs are swollen with blooms,
Like chrysalids impatient for the air;
The shining dors are busy; beetles run
Along the furrows, ants make their ado;
Above, birds fly in merry flocks—the lark
Soars up and up, shivering for very joy;
Afar the ocean sleeps; white fishing gulls
Flit where the strand is purple with its tribe
Of nested limpets; savage creatures seek
Their loves in wood and plain, and God renews
His ancient rapture!

The Return to Stalinism

By W. N. EWER, from London

MALENKOV'S resignation was dramatic in its suddenness and in its setting. But it was hardly surprising to those who have been watching the signs of struggle for power that has been going on behind the facade of unity and "collective leadership," and in the past few weeks, the growing criticism in the Soviet press of policies such as the need for concentrating on the production of consumer goods which had been particularly associated with Malenkov.

The first thing that seems clear about the change of premiership is that it is a reversion of the Stalin type of government. Khrushchev, like Stalin in the thirties, becomes master and dictator of all policy without holding any post in the government. He, like Stalin, will rule as secretary of the Communist party and controller of the all-powerful party machine. And it may be noted that there has been much stress laid recently on the necessity for party control in all sections and at all levels of administration.

Khrushchev has repeated the Stalin pattern even in detail. Malenkov goes in the same way as Rykov (Lenin's successor as head of the Soviet government) went a quarter of a century ago. After a campaign of criticism Rykov was dismissed from office; confessed his errors and promised to mend his ways; and was given another post as a subordinate minister. It was only five years later that he was disgraced, tried and shot.

Stalin nominated Malenkov in succession, Khrushchev nominates Bulganin.

It was, since Khrushchev preferred not to take the premiership himself, the obvious choice. Here is a man who can be commended as the most widely experienced of Soviet leaders. He has served in Cheka; he has been the head of a big industrial undertaking and the head of the State Bank. He has been chairman of the republics which make up the U.S.S.R.

He has been premier of the Russian Republic—the biggest of Moscow Soviet. He has been minister of defense and is marshal of the Soviet Union. He is reputed to be popular with the army. Since the war he has been regarded as a military figure and so is not associated in the public mind with any of the government's internal policies and failures.

* * *

And at the same time the Bulganin of today, in spite of his impressive record, is not a man who will give any trouble or seek to assert his own authority against that of Khrushchev. He has become a vain and jovial type, fond of good living, good food and good drink; a social figure, always in the smartest of uniforms with all his medals. "More like a French marshal of the Second Empire than a Communist" is the description of one Western ambassador. So, the perfect man to be facade premier behind whom Khrushchev, like the Stalin of the thirties, can exercise unchallenged authority and unchallenged power.

With Beria dead, Malenkov demoted, and Bulganin facade premier, Khrushchev now has no serious rival. Of the seven other members of the party presidium at Stalin's death, Molotov is now accepting the role of elder statesman. He is entirely concerned with foreign affairs and has recently been evidently trimming his sails to the Khrushchev wind.

Voroshilov is a decorative head of state. Kaganovich is ageing; and is a Jew. Mikoyan's status is dubious and he is an Armenian. Saburov and Pervukhin are "coming men" but they have not "arrived."

* * *

So it looks as if less than two years after Stalin's death the phase of "collective leadership" is over. Again, as Rosa Luxembourg and Trotsky warned, "the dictatorship of the party has become first the dictatorship of the committee, then the dictatorship of the single individual."

Whether Khrushchev will for long be content to control in fact but not in name, whether he will, like Stalin decide to assume office as well as power and most important of all, whether he can maintain the supremacy he has gained, all these are unanswerable questions. For the moment the outstanding fact is that Stalinism has returned. The Soviet Union has a new autocrat.

It was Tsar Nicolas I who laid down the "Three Principles" on which the Russian state must be based. They are autocracy, orthodoxy and nationalism. They are today the three principles on which the Soviet state is based (with the party secretary in place of the tsar and the party in place of the church).

It is a strange sequel to the revolution.

Formosa and Yalta

(From The Financial Times)

CANADA has an interest in seeing the Yalta papers published. Canadians ought to see first hand what goes on at such conferences and not get it merely through abbreviated foreign affairs debates that have become the vogue, for the sake of so-called bi-partisanism.

These Yalta records were to be published last summer, but then it was postponed so as not to be too beastly to the former U.S. administration and too hard on the feelings of others, elsewhere, who do not like to be reminded of their mistakes.

The happenings of the past five years are Yalta's direct results, although the boys who went to Korea did not know that. It is time to find out what really was done, and sold or given away on that occasion. The Formosa debate would make more sense that way.

Incidentally, it is remarkable to consider what happened to the American key personnel at Yalta.

Roosevelt died within 60 days of his return; having, according to reports, realized the mistake he had made.

Ambassador John Winant, who gave Berlin to the Russians without securing a guaranteed entry for the Western powers, went home from Yalta and promptly shot himself.

Secretary of State Stettinius turned the United Nations construction job over to Alger Hiss, went home and was dead next morning.

Alger Hiss was found out (but the papers that would show his handiwork are still unpublished).

And the air force general, Hap Arnold, who flew in desperation to Yalta to pass certain warnings on to the president did not get an audience and died not long after. Diplomacy is a queer game these days; and a dangerous one.

Atomic Ashcan

(From The New York Herald Tribune)

A BRITISH naval vessel has returned from a secret trip on which it dumped 1,500 tons of radioactive waste material from the atomic laboratories at Harwell, England. The "ash bin" was a 7,200-foot-deep area in the Atlantic several hundred miles southwest of Lands End. The exact location was undisclosed, but it was well off ship lanes and fishing grounds.

The deadly waste material was sealed in large corrosion-resistant drums designed to keep it trapped on the ocean floor for at least 30 years. By that time it is supposed to be harmless.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Khrushchev makes it plain that in Russian politics he is not a man to be sneezed at, but it's a big help to pronouncing his name.

A Nevada rocket scientist says we may never travel to other planets because there would be nothing there worth seeing. Yet a few slot machines, roulette wheels and a floor show might do as much for Mars as they did for the Nevada desert.

Ecuador had wanted, like any good republic, to honor the memory of the national poet, Olmeda, by raising a statue to him. But the construction of a suitable monument proved too expensive for the Ecuadorean exchequer, and the lofty project was about to be abandoned when, providentially, it was discovered that, in a back street of Quito there was a brass statue of Lord Byron, which was to be sold as scrap by a hard pressed municipality in the British West Indies. The Ecuadorean republic thereupon bought this metal piece, set it up on a granite foundation and had the name and merits of Olmeda engraved on the pedestal.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A YOUNG friend of mine, after eight months of determined trying, at last got a job in the big company which it has been his young life's ambition to work for.

As I know one of the very top men of the company—go fishing with him in fact—I offered three months ago to put in a good word for the boy. But on the hot advice of everybody concerned, including the boy himself, I was persuaded not to.

"It would be a bad thing," everybody explained. "Never go over anybody's head, like that. If the manager of the department he wants to work in got word from upstairs to take the boy on his staff, he would be irritated, and the boy would lead a dog's life. Everything that went amiss in the department would be explained to the people upstairs at the boy's expense. If a manager has to take on friends of the big bosses, how can he be held responsible . . .?"

A week ago, my friend, the high executive of the company, happened to learn casually that the young fellow was a friend of mine.

"He's been dying," I said, "to get into your organization. For a year."

"Well, why the Sam Hill didn't you tell me?" demanded my big brass friend.

So I explained about the business of not going over anybody's head.

My friend blew up.

"What nonsense!" he protested. "Our company is full of nepotism. I've got a dozen relatives working in it. So has everybody else. And we all go over everybody's head. If there is anybody I raise the devil over, it is the person who complains about somebody going over his head. My gosh, man, modern business has no time to waste on old theories like that. What has to be done has got to be done in the smartest, quickest and most intelligent way. And if getting it done required going over somebody's head or under somebody's feet it doesn't matter in the least. And if it's my uncle or my cousin or a nephew by marriage who does it makes not the slightest difference. The only guy who is in trouble in our company is the one who thinks his job is more important than the work to be done."

Letters to the Editor

Too Much Space

Congratulations on your editorial comment and also on Mr Mortimore's column concerning road traffic.

The senseless mutilation and killing on our highways would be reduced to a minimum if we could induce a similarly sane attitude among the stubborn minority who persist in clinging to the out-moded idea that because we can go faster and [illegible] do so regardless of consequences.

One might as well maintain that because a contractor could make a quicker job of land clearing, he should be allowed to blast away recklessly with scant regard for safety measures.

It is indeed difficult to understand why the government is raising the limit now that speed has been recognized as our worst traffic menace and the tendency is toward a more realistic attitude concerning its control. Britain, which until now has so strenuously opposed any suggestion of speed limits other than in built-up areas, is now considering giving the minister of transport power to impose restrictions where and when advisable. In the United States, limits were lowered on certain super highways because of the appalling number of fatalities.

Other factors also are being brought to bear on this problem: insurance rate preferences, an enlightened public opinion, safe driving awards, etc. It is to be hoped that the government will reconsider and rather than encouraging faster driving will co-operate in endeavoring to impress on all motorists that speed for speed's sake is detrimental, not essential, to happy successful living.

For the Elderly

I had the privilege of being conducted through the recently completed Victoria Nursing Home on Gorge Road by the president, Mr. Winslow, on February 14. It was an experience that I much appreciated and can recommend to others who are kindly disposed towards our elderly citizens.

This new modern building has accommodation for 104 patients and was officially opened on January 12. I learned that there are now approximately 80 patients in the home and it is expected that it will be filled to capacity very soon. The kitchen and dining rooms are spotless and the equipment is efficient and of high quality. The beds and furnishings are comfortable and show thoughtfulness for the needs of the guests who receive the benefit of the home. Many of the rooms and wards have been furnished by private citizens and Victoria business firms and organizations, but there are still a number of wards awaiting donors to provide for them.

This letter is written with the hope that it will awaken interest among many who do not realize the beauty and benefit that has accrued to this community through the untiring efforts of the Victoria Nursing Home board of directors and other friends. I wish to highly recommend a visit to this public undertaking.

All To Blame

The blame, of course, for the "Trigger - Happy Marksmen" rests on all of us. It is idle to blame young lads for wanton killing while we acquiesce in the rationalizing of the myriad red-hatted anachronisms who kill for fun, and whose behavior in the outdoors they profess to "love" has made their self-given name, "sportsmen," a stench in the nostrils.

As Mr. Nicholson points out the Nanaimo boys were breaking the law inasmuch as they were unaccompanied by an adult. Then why were their 22s not confiscated? And for that matter, why are all .22s, BB guns and airguns not prohibited? It is illegal to shoot deer, bucks, or pheasants with them, so why use them at all?

But the moment one asks this question a howl goes up from the parents. They feel that when their boy is out killing songbirds he is "out of mischief." How many of us know (or care) that all songbirds are protected by treaty with the U.S.A.? Then why are they not protected in fact by our Game Commission? Are we not to blame if we expect one or two wardens to attend to miles of territory increasingly populated by violators?

Incidentally, "all types of hawks (except the osprey)" do not "kill chickens." Some hawks don't kill any birds. Also, both crows and starlings are at times useful and, I think, ornamental.

Names and Facts

Mrs. Worthington Lake in the Colonist letter column deplores the use of the word "humanist" on the grounds of its awkwardness and unsuitability. Bertrand Russell recently stated that he didn't like to be called a humanist but because of a different reason. He slyly intimated that the lower orders of animals over a long period of years had exhibited more adaptability to earthly conditions than had homo sapiens.

With the whole living creature population of this earth now sojourning "on the edge of mystery" as some one called it, might we not be excused for taking a little look into the immediate future and doing some speculation?

On the radio news we learn that the U.S. is about to release more hydrogen bombs and has discovered how to make synthetic diamonds, while Britain is working on a long-term project for producing almost unlimited atom power for industrial purposes. Some scientists seem at last to be admitting that atomic explosions may already be affecting the world's weather, while the world's population stands in two opposing camps and snarl and threaten to "exterminate" each other.

What is the $64 question before us? Can we live together in comparative peace and enjoy life like our cats and dogs and bees and pollywogs or must we exterminate ourselves over differences about ancient creeds, superstitions, race, languages and habits that have very little to do with our present situation and problems?

Men have been raising hell for centuries on this earth, murdering, slandering, gypping and cross-checking each other. Oh sure, often in a righteous cause but it would almost seem that we have reached the crossroads where we co-exist or perish. Whether as humanists or hoomousians won't much matter.

Poster Contest Slated

A poster contest for all pupils in Grades 7, 8 and 9 in Greater Victoria schools has been announced by the Red Cross, which is holding its annual campaign next month.

Posters should illustrate a phase of Red Cross service. The contest closes February 28. Prizes will be displayed in windows of downtown department stores.

Judges will be Tom Taylor, associate editor of The Daily Colonist, Colin Graham, curator of the art gallery, and Gordon Stevenson, commercial artist.

Counting their distributional points (one in each hand for the doubleton) North-South had a combined total of 28, two more than needed to justify a major-suit game bid. But the game was possible only with the most careful timing of the play.

West opened the queen of hearts. East encouraged with the seven and South won the trick with the ace. An immediate discard of at least one heart was South's most urgent need, so he cashed the diamond ace, overtook the queen with dummy's king and pitched a heart on dummy's jack. Now it might have seemed a good idea to take the spade finesse, but if he had done so declarer would have been defeated. West would win the spade and return his last trump. When East got in with the ace of clubs he would lead a third round of trumps and the North hand would be able to ruff only one of South's club losers. Declarer would lose two clubs, a heart and the spade finesse and be defeated.

By postponing the trump finesse, however, South made sure of his contract. After discarding on dummy's third diamond, he led dummy's queen of clubs. East took the ace and cashed the king of hearts before leading a spade. Now declarer could afford to finesse, even though it lost. When West won and returned a trump, South won, cashed the club king, ruffed a club, trumped a diamond back to his hand and trumped his last club with dummy's queen of spades. South still had a trump to win the 10th trick for his side.

Move Indicated at IWA Parley

Strike Action Threatened For Camp at Gordon River

VANCOUVER—Threat of strike action at the Gordon River camp of Western Forest Industries Ltd. by the Duncan local, International Woodwork [illegible] given yesterday by business agent Tony Poje.

The dispute centres on the company's refusal to sign the 1954-55 union master agreement covering buckers' and fallers' rates. A conciliation board is to report its findings next week.

Mr. Poje said if the results are not satisfactory in the dispute affecting only his local, a strike vote will be sought.

The convention ordered full support from the provincial strike fund in event of a walkout.

The local is expected to start court proceedings by March 1, already having Labor Relations Board consent, against the same company for altering conditions during negotiations.

The union alleges the company increased board rates. The Labor Relations Board has [illegible] application to prosecute the Meade Creek camp of the same company for failing to sign an agreement when there is no disagreement on contract terms.

* * *

A two-way move to broaden the powers of the IWA's B.C. district was made in applying for jurisdictional power over about 8,000 unorganized workers in Alberta and for similar contract dates in B.C. and the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

The Alberta question is referred to the union's international executive, and the contract dates to the next international convention.

The convention went against any proposed inclusion of compulsory arbitration in either federal or provincial labor codes.

The provincial government was criticized for failure to give an appointment recently to the B.C. Federation of Labor for presentation of a brief, and the convention endorsed the federation stand that the legislature standing committee on labor take under review the Labor Relations Act. Labor groups then could appear before the committee, the convention decided.

A telegram was sent to Premier Bennett asking for such action.

* * *

Looming as one of the major demands, along with an across the board wage boost, is a guaranteed work year for loggers.

The convention instructed the negotiating committee to "make every effort" to establish a guarantee of 200 working days annually for loggers.

Other demands appear as a company sponsored MSA plan, two weeks' holiday after one year and three weeks' holiday after five years.

* * *

Representation will be made to the "proper authorities" by the convention to "stop the practice" of convict labor being used in breaking land. It is claimed that convict labor is being used for the new provincial jail at Haney and delegates, unalterably opposed to the use of such labor, feared that "this practice will be continued to a greater degree."

* * *

Scattered attempts by delegates to break from a CCL-CCF alliance and support a non-partisan group were defeated.

The convention overwhelmingly approved a political action program to concentrate on the development of the trade union movement, political and economical developments daily, and to work in conjunction with the Canadian Congress of Labor national political action committee.

The CCL has for many years allied itself with CCF policies.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A city policeman paid a $25 fine Wednesday for appearing 55 minutes late at a court hearing. Judge John T. Duffa told patrolman Harold Moten to pay or go to jail.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Penticton Vs, given the wonderful chance to make hockey history for themselves by being selected as the team to regain our lost honors, have miserably flubbed their first test and already taken something away from the victory which almost assuredly will be theirs.

In Germany but a few hours, the Vs complained bitterly about conditions and even hinted at refusing to play in the world hockey tournament unless the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association took immediate action to improve their lot.

The Vs were dissatisfied with "uncertainty over their movements," their "meagre" eating allowance, and over the fact that they were hurried to Berlin sooner than they wished to be, then had to wait for ice on which to practice.

"It could have been conditions which defeated the Canadian team last year if they are anything like those which the Penticton Vs are meeting in Berlin today," said club-president Clem Bird.

"I took one look at the steak in our hotel last night. It was about the size of a silver dollar. You need more than that to play our style of game," chimed in playing-coach Grant Warwick.

Bird and Warwick, it seems, have misunderstood the purpose of their trip to Europe. True enough, the main purpose is to restore our hockey prestige by winning the so-called world championship but there is more to it than that. The Penticton Vs are also there to represent Canada and Canadians will be judged just as much by how the Vs conduct themselves off the ice as for their actions on the ice. In very short order, the Vs have shown themselves to be prima donnas, thinking more of themselves than the reason they are in Germany.

It is undoubtedly true that conditions in Berlin are not at all good and that the Vs are not living in the style to which they have become accustomed as the pampered darlings of Penticton. And it could well be that some of the conditions they object to have been caused by bungling—the CAHA is famous for that—but that's not the point.

The Vs are visiting a war-ravaged continent where living conditions at the best are not what the average Canadian accepts as a matter of course—where getting a good meal is more of a problem than the next payment on the television set is to Canadians. If the Vs had complaints, they should have tried to do something about them quietly, not bleat out their tale of woe in such fashion that it makes good propaganda for the other side. The effect of a well-fed group of athletes blasting away at living conditions only a few hours after their arrival in a country where we can use friends can well be imagined.

Dick Irvin may have been right when he suggested that Canada include Harry Lumley, Red Kelly, Doug Harvey, Jean Beliveau, Sid Smith and Gordie Howe with the Canadian team. If we're going to send pros we might as well send real pros.

Random Harvest

"He'll help you a lot as soon as he gets into condition," was the good word from Lynn Patrick on Barton Bradley, Cougar newcomer by way of New Westminster . . . Jack Kersey was passing out the cigars a few days back and beaming proudly that "It's a boy" . . . Watching a certain Cougar on Wednesday night, Lynn Patrick remarked, "He doesn't backcheck too well but that's all right. That's the easiest thing to teach them." He's right, too, for if you don't check back in the NHL you are back in the AHL or WHL. So they learn quickly and willingly . . . New Westminster Royals, at long last, now look like the team least likely to succeed in the four-way scrap for the last three WHL playoff spots but one can never tell. They've been counted out before only to keep on surprising . . . In baseball it was Lou Gehrig (2,130 consecutive games) and in hockey it was Murray Murdoch (563 in a row), but basketball's ironman is Harry "The Horse" Gallatin of the New York Knickerbockers. He has played 503 pro games without a miss, certainly comparable to the above two records . . . Which brings to mind that tackle Bob Reynolds holds a record not likely to ever be equalled. He played 180 consecutive minutes in the Rose Bowl for Stanford when the Indians played three straight years . . . Ross Lowe, having a big season for Syracuse at his new position of centre, had quite a night recently in a game against Hershey. After the second of his two fighting penalties, he came back to force overtime with his second goal, then set up the winner in the extra period . . . Over the past five seasons an average of 70 points has been needed to assure a fourth-place finish and the lowest point total to give a team the last playoff spot in a four-team post-season series was 68. Which means the Saskatoon Quakers, with two teams to catch, haven't really got a chance. If they win their last 13 games they'll wind up with 69 points . . . That final goal continues to be the big one. At the end of last week's play, the team which scored the opening goal had won 106 games, tied 21 and lost 37 . . . The Cougars, incidentally, have scored the first goal in 29 games, losing eight and winning 21. But they have come from behind for five wins and three to just about balance matters.

Slumping Sheffield XI Ponders Sewell Sale

BY JEFF RYAN

LONDON (CP) — Sheffield Wednesday, floundering at the bottom of the first division, may sell one of its best players in a bid to avoid relegation, the bane of British soccer clubs.

Jackie Sewell, costliest player in the country with a £34,000 tag on his head, is the player on the auction block. Sheffield Wednesday paid Notts County the record fee for Sewell in 1951.

Wednesday, known in the steel town of Sheffield as the "yo-yo" team because of erratic form from season to season, hasn't won a league game since October 16. It now is last in the 22-team table, six points below its nearest rival, Leicester City, which has a game in hand.

The club has tried for some time to buy players, but nobody seems to want their money. Most clubs, however, say they would be keen on a player-and-money swap involving Sewell, Albert Quixall or Redfern Frogatt, all top-class inside forwards.

POSITION DESPERATE

"I've tried to sign a dozen different players recently," team manager Eric Taylor told reporters. "The answer is always the same. The clubs don't want money, they want Froggatt, Sewell or Quixall. The position is desperate.

"We've stood firm for a long time but now it seems we shall be forced into a player exchange deal."

With the season 26 weeks old, Wednesday can claim only 14 of a possible 58 points from its 29 games. Experts say it will take a miracle to keep the club from relegation, under the ruling whereby the last two teams in the first division are shunted down to the second.

Patty in Front By One Stroke In First Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Persistent Patty Berg missed two short birdie putts on the back nine Thursday but still knocked a stroke off women's par to grab the first-round lead in the $5,000 Serbin invitational golf tournament.

Matching par on all but three holes over the windy, 6,282-yard Bayshore Golf Club course, the hard-hitting Chicago veteran finished the first 18-hole round a stroke in front of the field with 36-37—73.

Hard on Patty's heels with 74s after a day of tough competition were Mary Lena Faulk, the Thomasville, Ga., girl playing her second tournament as a professional; Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Fay Crocker, from Montevideo, Uruguay.

Sandy Digs into Training

His outfit topped off by a Scotch tam, world featherweight champion Sandy Saddler shovels snow at his Summit, N.J., training camp as he trains for a title defense against Teddy (Red Top) Davis in Madison Square Garden, February 25. Although this type of workout is slightly irregular, his handlers convinced him that shoveling was good training.

Czech Visit Doubtful As Vs' Woes Mount

BERLIN (CP) — Penticton Vs, in Europe less than a week in their quest of Canada's lost world hockey title, already are the centre of considerable controversy, as many a Canadian entry in the world tournament has been before them.

Latest in a series of difficulties the Vs have encountered since arriving in Berlin last Monday is the possibility that entry visas to Czechoslovakia may not be forthcoming in time for the team to play two scheduled exhibition games in Prague Sunday and Monday.

Glen Bird, the team's manager, said Thursday that he hopes visas can be obtained in time to leave Berlin Saturday as planned and that the Canadian military mission here is trying to secure them from Czech authorities.

CRITICIZE CANADA

Bird was critical of the way details for the European tour were handled by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and said the problem of visas should have been tackled earlier by the CAHA.

However, W. B. "Baldy" George, secretary-manager of the CAHA, said in an interview at Kemptville, Ont., that details such as visas for the Vs exhibition tour are the responsibility of the German Ice Hockey Federation.

CONFIRMED TOO LATE

George added the CAHA had sent two cables to the German federation about two weeks ago requesting details of the exhibition tour the federation had sought to arrange for the Vs. The Czech dates, he said, were confirmed too late by the German federation for visas to be arranged before the team left Montreal last Sunday.

"WASTE OF TIME"

Bird is also disappointed about the team's stay in Berlin thus far. He said all the members of the club were feeling fine, "but as far as sports are concerned our trip . . . has been a waste of time so far."

"We have come to Europe to see how they play hockey. But so far we have not seen it. This is disappointing."

The Vs defeated a mixed team of Canadians, Swedes and Germans 11-4 Wednesday night and while Bird said the boys on the opposing teams were "all right," they were shorthanded "and we had to give them three of our players."

A return match with the mixed team is scheduled today and West Berlin sports officials disclosed Thursday they had heard members of the Russian team, which won the world championships last year, are liable to be among the spectators. Pavel Korotkov, president of the Soviet Ice Hockey Association, and 10 other Russians were reported to have shown keen interest as they watched the Vs first exhibition game Wednesday.

West Berlin papers are unanimous in their praise of the Canadians' speed, fairness and skill.

Der Tagesspiegel says, "The Canadians showed everything they had promised."

Berliner Morgenpost says the Canadians displayed hockey "as Berlin has not seen it for decades."

Vagnone Win Forces X To Doff Mask

Red Vagnone took the third and deciding fall from Mr. X in the first half of the double main event at the Victoria Ballroom last night, forcing his opponent to unmask to the delight of close to 1,000 wrestling fans.

Mr. X had been unbeaten in the Pacific Northwest until he met his match last night and his unmasking disclosed his identity as Giuseppe Demetri. Vagnone was substituting for Jerry Woods, who Thursday flew to his Utah home to be with his sick wife.

Max Bohmann and Sky Low Low won the third and deciding fall from Tiny Tim and Tito Infante in a crowd-pleasing Australian tag team midget bout. Roy Speller defeated Phil Paul, son of famed Saanich wrestler Chief Thunderbird, in the opener.

San Francisco Claimed Site Of Title Match

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Jimmy Murray, local boxing promoter, said Thursday that the Rocky Marciano - Don Cockell heavyweight championship bout will be held in Kezar Stadium on May 16, 17 or 18.

No site has been announced yet for the bout, but Murray said he is "positive" he has the fight lined up for San Francisco.

Murray is leaving for New York on Monday to sit in on the signing which he said will take place there next Thursday.

One Hunter Might Have Had a Beef

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Hunters in the woods and fields of Saskatchewan had a record bag in almost all varieties of wild game and birds in 1954.

They also widened considerably the gap in farmer-hunter relations.

Provincial game commissioner E. L. Paynter says the reason for farmer ill-will towards hunters can be seen when damage caused by hunters is listed. Addressing the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Fish and Game League here Mr. Paynter said hunters in 1954 shot 19 cattle, three calves, six horses and one goat.

Fences were cut in 14 instances, and 100 yards of fence torn away in another.

A barrel of gasoline was shot through on one farm, a combine blasted on another, a car and a truck were damaged and a farmer barely escaped death when a bullet whizzed through the window of his truck.

"The worst, however, was the incident of a hunter shooting a steer and then trying to get away with the dressed carcass," Mr. Paynter said.

"He got stuck in the mud and had the gall to ask the farmer who owned the steer to pull him out. The farmer noticed the meat in the trunk and called the RCMP."

Last night's score: VICTORIA 1 at Calgary 2

Next games tonight: VICTORIA at [illegible] couver

Victoria Cougars missed a chance to move into second place in the Western Hockey League at Calgary last night as Steve Witiuk sparked a third-period rally that earned the Stampeders a 2-1 decision and spoiled the opening of Victoria's final Prairie trip of the season.

Witiuk, who has always been well up in the WHL scoring in his three seasons with Calgary, fired his 23rd and 24th goals in the third period as the Stampeders fought back from a 1-0 deficit. Ed Dorohoy got his 25th goal in the first period and the Cougars fought desperately to protect their lead in an effort to gain at least one point from the crucial contest.

TRY AGAIN TONIGHT

Victory moved the Stampeders three points ahead of the Cougars, who remained tied with New Westminster Royals for third place. But Victoria gets another chance to break the deadlock tonight when it meets the Edmonton Flyers, who will have Glenn Hall back in the nets.

Hall replaced regular Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk for two games and was scheduled to play another in the National Hockey League but returned to Edmonton to be near his sick wife. Dave Gatherum, his Edmonton replacement, will report to New Westminster for the rest of the season on an "immediate recall basis," to take the pressure off Lucien Dechene.

CLOSE CHECKING

It was a close-checking game at Calgary last night with the Cougars getting the jump at 8.07 of the first period when Dorohoy backhanded a slider behind Doug Stevenson. Stampeders were a man short with Witiuk sitting out a charging penalty.

Cougars checked fiercely from there, giving Marcel Pelletier plenty of protection, but Witiuk finally got the tying marker at 7.30 when he burst past Cougar defenseman Pete Durham and found the mark.

Witiuk then got the winner at 15.45, his shot from the side glancing off Pelletier's skate and into the net.

Pelletier was brilliant throughout as he made several brilliant saves, robbing Sid Finney, George Pargeter and Witiuk with great stops in the scoreless second period. But Stevenson, who was called on to make only 10 saves, came through with several key blocks, stopping Gene Achtymichuk in the second period and again in the third.

SUMMARY

Victoria — Goal Pelletier; defense Durham, Clune, Kearns, Davidson, Black; forwards Macauley, Hebenton, [illegible] Dorohoy, Geer.

WHL Accepts Winnipeg Entry

SEATTLE (CP) — Directors of the Western Hockey League have officially accepted Winnipeg's application to enter a team in the present six-team circuit, president Al Leader said Thursday.

Leader said the necessary money was guaranteed two weeks ago and the team was accepted Wednesday night. The Prairie city will become a full fledged member with voting power this spring.

Two more cities are slated for membership into the league, Regina and an unidentified coast city. Regina was admitted last August.

Although he declined to definitely identify the coast club, Leader said he had been "empowered . . . to negotiate with responsible parties with the view of making Seattle active next season."

Present members of the league are Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster.

John Perrin Jr., was named as managing-director of the yet-unnamed club in Winnipeg, which is reported to be already talking terms with a National League club to form a hook-up, possibly the Montreal Canadiens.

Last night's scores: Detroit 2 at Montreal 4, Boston 2 at Chicago 10.

Next games Saturday: New York at Montreal, Boston at Toronto.

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens returned to first place in the National Hockey League Thursday night, blasting in three goals in the final period to win 4-2 over Detroit and send Red Wings back to second place.

And Chicago Black Hawks reared from the cellar to slap down fourth-place Boston Bruins 10-2 in the biggest one-team scoring outburst of the season.

A Montreal crowd of 11,124 watched Red Wings move into a 2-0 lead in the first period, then fall before Canadiens who scored once in the second and three times in the third.

Jean Beliveau was the big gun, scoring his 31st and 32nd goals of the season to lead the Montreal victory. Maurice (Rocket) Richard got his 33rd and Calum Mackay supplied the other for Canadiens.

Wings capitalized on Montreal penalties in the first period, Ted Lindsay and Red Kelly scoring, but were blanked the rest of the way.

The victory lifted Canadiens a single point ahead of Wings and gave them a 7-6 edge in the won-lost column in 13 games against Detroit this season.

PILE ON GOALS

At Chicago, a sparse crowd of 3,280 sat unbelievingly as the Hawks piled the goals on to reach double figures for the first time in more than five years. The place and opponents were identical as the Hawks beat Boston 10-4 on October 30, 1949, the last time they accomplished the feat.

Bruins went into the game with four victories and five ties in their last nine starts and a chance to set an unbeaten mark for the season. But Chicago scored two quick goals in the first three minutes while Boston's Gus Bodnar was sitting out a penalty, and Hawks never looked back.

HENDERSON SHAKY

Rookie goaltender Johnny Henderson, the backbone of Bruins' recent surge, stopped 12 drives and let in three in the opening period, but appeared to weaken as the game advanced. In the final frame, in which Chicago scored four times, he was credited with only two stops.

The victory was only the second in 20 starts for Hawks.

Despite the lopsided score, Nick Mickoski was the only Hawk to score two goals, both in the first period. He also assisted on second period markers by linemates Metro Prystai and Bill Mosienko.

LABINE FIGHTS

The remaining Chicago marksmen were Larry Wilson, George "Red" Sullivan, Eddie Litzenberger, Jack McIntyre and Jerry Toppazzini.

Hal Laycoe in the first period and Doug Mohns in the third were the only Boston scorers.

Leo Labine, whose third-period goal Wednesday night salvaged the Bruins a tie against New York, figured in a different role Thursday night as he engaged in a brawl with Hawk defenseman Bucky Hollingworth. Both wound up with minor penalties for high-sticking and majors for fighting.

Hank Bassen, the Hawks young goalie, was called upon to make 29 stops to Henderson's 22.

Hall Possible Starter For Taximen Tonight

C & C Taxi may have George Hall back in the nets tonight when it meets Navy in the first game of a best-of-five Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League semi-final series at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

But whether or not the agile netminder, who was suspended indefinitely almost three weeks ago for "conduct detrimental to the league," gets back into action tonight depends on Hall and league officials.

MEETING TONIGHT

League president Doug Fletcher said last night he had received a letter from C & C manager Jack Derraugh, asking that Hall be reinstated. The league executive met Wednesday night with Derraugh and decided Hall's case would be dealt with providing the goalie wrote a letter to Fletcher guaranteeing good behavior in the future. If the executive receives a letter today it will meet before tonight's game to decide the issue.

Hall was involved in a fracas with fans in a recent game at Nanaimo and was put on probation. However, he swung his stick at Navy's Archie McLean, breaking the stick on the goal post, at Memorial Arena January 31 and was immediately suspended.

If Hall returns to the nets tonight, C & C's stock will be boosted considerably. Doug Boettcher, former Army goalie, has filled in for two games but it has been reported that he will be drafted in the near future.

McCARTHY SIDELINED

The Taximen are injury free at the moment although Ron Bremner played Monday night with an injured shoulder tightly taped, but the Sailors have lost Gus McCarthy for the remainder of the season. McCarthy slid heavily into the goal post Monday and, although Navy officials didn't think the injury was serious at the time, X-rays disclosed a broken bone in his leg.

Nanaimo, league champions for the second straight year, open a similar series against Drake Hotel Saturday night at the up-Island centre. Second games in both series are scheduled at Memorial Arena Monday night.

NAVY SEEKS CUP

Meanwhile Fletcher announced last night that the three civilian teams in the league have informed him they are not in the position to compete in the Coy Cup playoffs. However, Navy has obtained permission from Ottawa to compete in the series and will represent the Island in the playoffs.

The Sailors will travel to the Okanagan to meet the Okanagan champions and the winner of that series will play at Trail.

Jackson Posts Comeback Win

NEW YORK (UP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson of Far Rockaway, N.Y., eighth-ranking heavyweight contender, registered his second victory on the comeback trail last night on a third-round technical knockout over Leo (Mule) Johnson at Sunnyside Gardens.

Referee Mark Coan stopped the bout at 2.09 of the third because Johnson, of Charlotte, N.C., had been battered into helplessness by lanky Jackson's freakish, whirlwind attack.

Jackson weighed 197 pounds; Johnson 191½.

McMorrans Win

McMorran juvenile boys sparked by the 28-point effort of Gary Bishop edged Brentwood junior men, 56-52, in a Saanich and Suburban Basketball League game at the Lake Hill gym last night.

Malcolm Spragett added 13 points for the winners while Roy Breckle hooped 25 points for Brentwood.

U.S. Bid Official

WASHINGTON (BUP) The United States government now has issued an official invitation to the International Olympic Committee to hold the 1960 Olympic Games at Detroit.

A resolution containing the invitation was signed by President Eisenhower Wednesday after it had been passed by both Houses of Congress.

Eaglette Clubs In Hoop Split

Eaglette basketball teams broke even in two exhibition games at the S. J. Willis Junior High gym last night, the midget girls thumping Broadmeade 35-16, but the bantam girls dropping a 21-20 decision to Brentwood.

In the opener of the three-game card, First United's classy pre-midget boys squad whipped Broadmeade, 64-1, with Mike Gallo scoring 24 points.

Tenley Albright Wins Second World Crown

VIENNA (CP)—Blonde Tenley Albright has won the women's world figure skating championship for the second time, giving the United States a sweep of individual honors.

A capacity crowd of 6,500, including eight Russian observers, cheered as the attractive 19 [illegible] from Newton, Mass., put on a scintillating exhibition of free skating Thursday night.

Miss Albright, who overcame poliomyelitis as a child, won the world title in 1953 when just 17 but lost it last year because of a spill while doing a double flip. The crown went to Gundi Busch of Germany, now a pro.

But there was no ambulance of a mishap Thursday night as Miss Albright, poised and graceful, reeled off flip and intricate double jumps which brought repeated applause.

Canada's Carole Jane Pachl and Ann Johnston finished sixth and ninth respectively in the bulky field of 22 skaters from a dozen countries.

Miss Pachl, a native of Czechoslovakia who came to Canada in 1948, moved up a notch from her seventh-place position at the end of the compulsory school figures in which contestants must follow pre[illegible]

Miss Johnston, 18-year-old brunette from Toronto, was eighth at the end of the school figures.

Although Miss Albright piled up a substantial margin in the compulsory phase of the competition, she was at her best in the free skating.

The nine judges, including Don Gilchrist, representing Canada, all picked her for first place, giving her nine placements and 190.6 points.

BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

Carol Heiss of New York captured second place in the women's competition with a brilliant free skating performance which brought her all the way from fifth place at the end of the school figures. Miss Heiss had 28 placements and 180.31 points.

Austria's European champion Hanna Eigel was third and Ingrid Wendl, another Austrian, fourth. They were second and third after the compulsory contest.

Erica Batchelor of Scotland was fifth. Then came Miss Pachl of the Ottawa Minto Club. The 17-year-old Canadian champion had 58 placements and 175.16 points.

Battle for FA Cup Resumes Saturday

BY JEFF RYAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The struggle for English soccer's top trophy resumes Saturday as 16 surviving teams clash in the fifth round of the Football Association Cup competition.

The 16—eight first division clubs, seven from the second [illegible] sion giant-killer, are the remnant of a 600-team contingent that set out on the road to Wembley last summer.

The glamor match of the round pits Wolverhampton Wanderers, leaders in the first division, against third-place Charlton Athletic. Some soccer experts say the winner of this battle of first division giants is a certainty for the cup final at London's Wembley Stadium May 7. Wolverhampton now is a 5 to 1 shot to win the sudden-death competition and Charlton is quoted at 11 to 1.

Charlton is one of three London teams left in the cup competition. Chelsea, another London hope, goes to Nottingham to play Notts County, the oldest established club in the country. Chelsea, fifth in the first division table, is an 8 to 1 shot.

Notts County, high up in the second division and a 66 to 1 chance for the cup, has been going great guns, having lost only one game since November.

Tottenham Hotspur, the third London club in the running, meets lowly York City of the third division, giant-killer of [illegible]

Other favorites for the FA Cup title include second-place Sunderland of the first division, which plays second division Swansea Town, and Manchester City, fourth in the first division and meeting Luton Town of the second division.

Other fifth-round fixtures match Nottingham Forest against Newcastle United, Birmingham City against Doncaster Rovers and Liverpool against Huddersfield Town. It is the first time in 29 years that the two Nottingham teams, Nottingham Forest and Notts County, have been in the fifth round together. Both are at [illegible]

Play in the second annual Wednesday Commercial League bonspiel will get under way next Wednesday at the Victoria Curling Club with the 16 rinks being divided into two sections in championship play.

League competition wound up last Wednesday with Garden City Grocery winning the title for the second straight year. The grocery rink downed HBC (Nash) 9-4 to hold its one-point lead over Victoria Lockers, who edged Gorge Hotel 11-9.

The top eight rinks will battle for prizes in one section while the bottom eight rinks will play in another section. A final for the playoff title may be scheduled between the section winners. All first round losers will drop into a consolation event.

Wednesday's draw follows:

"A" Section—Colonist vs Garden City Grocery, Victoria Lockers vs Fernwood Variety, Hillside Pharmacy vs HBC (Baggett), Eaton's (Logan) vs Gorge Hotel.

Trades and Labor Council To Press for Amalgamation

Investigation of the possibility of amalgamating all [illegible] convention of the Trades and Labor Congress by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

The council has instructed its legislative committee to prepare such a resolution.

The two major Canadian labor organizations, the Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor, are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, which recently agreed to become one federation.

The amalgamation of the U.S. groups does not oblige the Canadian congresses to unite.

The council endorsed a charge by boilermakers' delegates that the federal government was discriminating against HMC Dockyard employees recently retired before reaching retirement age.

Delegates dissociated themselves, however, from a reference to members of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires as "nothing better than uniformed scabs." The reference was made by John Aubrey, retail clerks' union delegate.

The council was told that most of the commissionaires are over 65, and none has been laid off at the dockyard.

But 40 civilian employees have been released from the dockyard and 100 have been given notice, the council heard.

Delegates said they had no [illegible] employees at 65, as long as they are adequately pensioned.

The council will protest to the provincial government against a tax on fuel oil, in effect for several years, and will make representations to the post office department for higher wages for extra-help postal clerks.

It agreed to ask the federal government to use all means in its power to foster peaceful trading with Asia.

Sailor Protests Nine Weddings

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) Richard C. Burke, 21, a navy man, told a judge Wednesday that his wife was married nine times before, but hadn't told him. Burke said he first became suspicious when he found several government allotment cheques in their home after his marriage last year to Mariquita Campastrano, 25. The judge quickly annulled the marriage.

Prince Protocol Prisoner

ROME (Reuters) — Seven-year-old Iranian Prince Ali Patrick pranced around a suite in a Rome luxury hotel Thursday night, a prisoner of international protocol.

His French-born mother, the sister-in-law of the Shah of Iran who now is in London, is fighting a diplomatic battle to allow her son to be educated in England.

The Iranian government apparently is set on [illegible] prince in Switzerland.

One day he may become the heir to the Iranian throne now held by his uncle, the shah. His father was Prince Ali Reza, the shah's brother, who was recognized as heir to the throne before he was killed in an airline crash last year.

Watching over the little prince is his tutor, A. A. Mehran, who has been sent along with the party by the Imperial Court of Iran.

As the prince played with toy pistols and read comic books, telegrams were sent between Rome and London and Tehran to try to settle the struggle between the imperial court and the boy's mother, Mme. Christiane Cholewsky.

Neither she nor her son have been out of their suite for two days. Mme. Cholewsky is determined to have her own way about the boy's education.

The hotel is carefully [illegible] an Iranian embassy official refused to say whether the police had been ordered to keep the mother and child from leaving together.

Wall Street Takes Drop In Volume

NEW YORK (UP) — Trading [illegible] market yesterday.

Prices displayed a firmer tone in the industrial and railroad groups, while utilities eased slightly.

The list turned up after an irregular opening failed to bring in new realizing.

Fluctuations in the recent wide movers continued large with General Dynamics going through an arc of nearly five points. The issue showed a loss late in the day.

Favorable earnings reports helped a long string of stocks.

Toronto Rallies

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market, after a weak start, added strength in afternoon trade Thursday and closed irregular.

Papers, steels, foods, liquors and financial institutions led closing industrial strength. General Dynamics dropped $6.

Preston climbed 15 cents to lead golds higher. Uraniums were strong.

Montreal Gains

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market was irregularly higher at the close of active trading Thursday. Gains and losses ranged to more than three points.

Miscellaneous industrials and papers were irregularly higher. The remainder of the industrial market was generally unchanged. Mines were mixed and western oils were featureless.

Tax Benefits Lure Capital

BY RON WOOD
Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd.

The following is a summary of a very interesting article written by Fred P. Jones which appeared in the February 7 issue of Barrons. The author is a professor in the [illegible]ness Administration at the University of Western Ontario.

Questions have been raised [illegible] the flow of private capital from the U.S. into Canada, a trend which in recent months has been stimulated by the rapid growth in the number of investment companies organized primarily to invest in Canadian securities.

Last year, for the first time, several investment companies designed to appeal to U.S. investors were incorporated in Canada; for example, Scudder Fund, Keystone Fund and others. The investment objectives of these funds are all roughly similar. None intends to pay dividends currently. All aim primarily at participation in the expected growth in the Canadian economy.

The largest stock concentration was in the metals and mining industry and the next biggest in the petroleum group. In all the securities of some 73 Canadian companies were purchased.

The primary aim of these funds was to take advantage of attractive tax provisions in the U.S. and Canadian statutes. To do so they had to sell at least 95 per cent of their shares to non-residents of Canada.

A number of specific questions have been raised in financial circles concerning the recent increase of American portfolio investment in the Dominion. It has been alleged that the inflow of new investment company money has tended to inflate the price of the Canadian dollar. Undoubtedly some concern on this score stems from the experience of 1950, when the unprecedented flight from the U.S. to the Canadian dollar created such pressures that the Canadian government was forced to free Canadian exchange from its pegged price. However, the parallel is more apparent than real.

It is important to keep in mind that U.S. capital is not pouring into Canada as a speculation on the value of the Canadian dollar. The essential motivation today is one of capitalizing on what are deemed by professional managements to be attractive growth opportunities. However, the unevenness of the capital flow may at times assert temporary pressures on the exchange rate.

It is also sometimes said that the new investment company money may be rapidly withdrawn in the future. Actually, the reverse of this proposition is more nearly correct. In order to continue their tax evaluations to U.S. investment funds as non-domiciled foreign corporations, their income must be secured from sources outside the U.S.

Finally, is the argument that the flow of investment company money into Canada has forced common stock prices in Canada to an unjustifiably high and dangerous level. The facts, says Mr. Jones, fail to support this view. The rise in the Canadian stock market during the past year was less spectacular than that which occurred in the U.S. In fact prices of Canadian stocks have lagged behind their American counterparts since 1952, when the first U.S. companies seeking investment in Canadian securities were organized. While the latter undoubtedly have had some effect on stock prices, so has the rising trend in Canadian earnings and dividends.

Commission To Construct Big Station

Construction by the B.C. Power Commission of a new 132,000-volt switching station at Dunsmuir, near Qualicum, to improve its Vancouver Island transmission system was announced yesterday by commission officials.

Work on the $570,000 project will start in April and the station is expected to be in full operation early next year.

Bulk of the power generated at the John Hart development on Campbell River is transmitted 90 miles to Nanaimo over two 132,000-volt circuits. One of these circuits loops through Alberni, adding another 28 miles of transmission.

The new Dunsmuir switching station will be constructed at the junction of the take-off to Alberni, shortening the transmission distance to Nanaimo and strengthening the line by dividing it into smaller sections.

The new station will be remotely controlled from the Jingle Pot station at Nanaimo.

DUNCAN—Howick Stanley (Jack) Ford, 67, resident of Duncan for the past 34 years and of Vancouver Island for the past 54 years, died Wednesday in King's Daughters' Hospital.

A native of London, England, he was well known as a carpenter and contractor.

Surviving are his widow, Esther; two sons, William, San Jose, Calif., and Robert, of Victoria; one daughter, Mrs. Sid Young, Bear Creek, Port Renfrew, two brothers, Walter, in England, and Douglas, of Duncan, two sisters, Mrs Matt Williams and Mrs Harry Saunders, both of Duncan, and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from Hirst Funeral Home, with Rev W. O. McKee officiating. Cremation will follow in Victoria.

Bus Company Needs Passengers

PORT ALBERNI—Need for increased patronage of the intercity bus line was emphasized during a recent meeting of the Port Alberni and District Chamber of Jim Bates, manager of Tyee Bus Company, told the chamber executive that serious loss of revenue is threatening the service.

Because motorists make a practise of picking up waiting passengers at bus stops, the company is losing as much as $1,000 a month in fares, he said.

The service is operated on a 30-minute schedule between Alberni and Port Alberni. The routes cover wide areas in each city.

Importance of the bus service was recognized by the chamber, but no plan was suggested for its maintenance. It was agreed, however, to ask the public to patronize the bus company at every possible opportunity.

Struck Paper Publishes

PORT ALBERNI—The strikebound West Coast Advocate, Port Alberni weekly newspaper, published Wednesday, despite picket lines, for the first time since January 13 when two union printers went on strike.

Negotiations between Irving Wilson, publisher, and the International Typographical Union broke down when he refused to sign a new agreement giving an eight-cent-an-hour wage boost to printers.

In a front page story, The Advocate announced it had been re-organized as an "employee-owned plant.

The two union printers are expected to continue picketing the plant as they have since January 13. Papers were distributed Wednesday after the picketers left at 5 p.m.

Jack Whittal, acting financial secretary of the 3,500-member IWA Local 1-85 which is supporting the ITU members, said the announced employee partnership does not change the picture as far as the IWA is concerned.

"The West Coast Advocate is still unfair to organized labor," he said.

LADYSMITH — Industrial development committee of the Chamber of Commerce plans an early meeting with Comox Logging and Railway Company to discuss its application for access to the water area for the proposed boat basin.

Petitions are being prepared for circulation among fishermen.

John MacNaughton, committee chairman, said city council gave the boat basin plan its approval last week.

Honeymoon Home Hit By Blaze

DUNCAN—A fire that started in the walls of the honeymoon home of Earl Proteau, of Koksilah, resulted in considerable smoke and water damage.

Mr Proteau, who is to be married Saturday, was fixing up his home with his bride-to-be when the fire broke out.

The fire was caused by a wall heater in the living room of the new duplex on the Island Highway.

Deputy Fire Chief George Sanderson and Fireman James Morrissey, of the Duncan fire department, fought the blaze with a garden hose while the prospective tenants and helpers removed furniture.

Speed Saves Life Of Trapped Invalid

DUNCAN—Quick thinking of a night telephone operator and fast action of the Duncan fire department are credited with saving the life of an elderly invalid trapped in a burning house at 1.35 a.m. Thursday.

Al Streich, retired invalid barber living alone at 190 Festubert Street, suffered seriously from smoke and received a number of scalp lacerations.

Deputy Fire Chief George Sanderson was almost overcome by smoke in an initial rescue attempt, and two firemen, Pat Clackson and Frank Irwin, suffered minor cuts while working at the fire scene.

Mrs. A. H Campbell called Fire Chief R. A. McDonald immediately after receiving a call from Streich, who mumbled something about the furnace and the back door.

"It could have been either a breaking and entering or a fire," explained Mrs. Campbell yesterday. She said the voice on the phone sounded choked and almost unintelligible.

"As soon as I realized who was calling," said Chief McDonald, "I rushed to the home of the old man. There was no sign of fire from outside. I could not get into the house through the back door . . . so I broke in the front door but was driven back by the dense smoke."

The chief ran to the nearby home of fireman Les Talbot to sound the fire alarm.

Deputy Chief Sanderson entered the living quarters twice before he was able to reach Streich's bedroom. The deputy chief and fireman Clackson got Streich out through the bedroom window and he was rushed to hospital by the inhalator truck.

Dr Doug McCauley and Dr Floyd Stanley were called, and at 4.30 a.m. the fire victim's condition was called satisfactory.

Firemen believe the fire started in the cold air duct of the heating system, and was not caused directly by the furnace. The hot air pipes were normal some time after the fire, but the cold air duct was hot.

The fire was extinguished by 2.30 a.m. It was the first serious blaze in Duncan this year.

Firemen Forced To Retreat

Family Homeless as Fire Levels Old Home in Nanaimo District

NANAIMO—Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Dunbar and their four children, one very young, were left homeless Thursday afternoon after fire leveled their five-room [illegible] Road, about 10 miles north of Nanaimo.

Dunbar and his father, owner of the house, located on the father's farm property, were able to save only a few items, including a washing-machine and television set.

Wellington fire department responded but faced a hopeless task against the strong wind blowing across the valley. The draft whipped up a fierce blaze which seized the entire building and firemen, who only had their truck water supply, were forced back.

No one was in the house at the time. Three of the children were at school, the youngest cared for elsewhere while Mrs Dunbar was attending an afternoon tea.

Dunbar and his father were working at the barn about 50 yards away when excessive smoke was first noticed. Dunbar, the younger said he built up a fire in a front room wood stove before leaving the house.

Some of the household property had come from a former residence and Mr Dunbar was uncertain as to whether he had transferred his insurance. He thought the loss might be $3,000 to $4,000. He formerly was owner of the Somerset Hotel, well-known Island Highway establishment.

The house was a district landmark. Some residents said could be as much as 60 years old.

Harry Smith, a Wellington area neighbor, offered shelter to the family.

Impairment Brings Jail For Driver

NANAIMO—John William Easthom of Nanaimo, convicted on an impaired driving charge in police court yesterday was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Jail sentence was automatic as Easthom appeared as a two-time offender.

Easthom, who pleaded not guilty, was defended by Hugh B. Heath. Const. William Healey conducted the Crown's case.

Police said the accused was seen weaving from side to side as he drove his car along Victoria Crescent and Wallace.

CHICAGO (AP)—Mary Ann Muntz, an actress using the name Joan Barton on television obtained a divorce Wednesday from Earl T. (Madman) Muntz. She alleged cruelty. Muntz is now in the television manufacturing and retailing business in Chicago.

John, who has been in an iron lung for 14 months, canvasses everyone who enters his ward at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Ken is canvassing by wheelchair and has set up collection depots throughout the hospital.

Rev. Peter Kelly States Views

'Indians Must Learn by Doing'; Minister Urges Liquor Rights

Indians cannot be prepared for their responsibilities as citizens by long-distance methods, Rev. Peter Kelly, full-blooded Haida noble and an authority on Indian affairs, told the Rotary Club yesterday.

They must learn by experience, he said, and that is why he, a minister, is pressing for Indians to come under the provincial Liquor Act and have the same drinking privileges as other people.

At present, Indians are allowed to drink in beer parlors, and beer is all they can obtain.

"I'm not going to make any excuses for them," Dr. Kelly said. "The privilege has been abused."

MUST ADJUST

"But," he said, "the Indians have to become adjusted to things as they are today, and the only way is for them to take their chances like anybody else.

"Without exercising their backbones and learning to walk, I don't know of a way they can prepare to be citizens of this land."

A hereditary chieftain, a master mariner and a doctor of divinity, Dr Kelly told the Rotary Club of efforts over the years to improve the position of Canada's Indians.

When he was spokesman in 1911 for an Indian delegation to the B.C. goverment of Sir Richard McBride, the Indians were courteously received, he said but later told in writing. "The government recognizes no issue existing between the Indians of B.C. and the government."

LONG BATTLE

Dr. Kelly traced the long struggle for recognition of Indian rights which took him to Ottawa many times and culminated in Indian Act amendments which give the Indians more voice in their own affairs.

In British Columbia, he said, the Coalition government all at once gave notice the Indians of the province would be made citizens.

"I told the premier and the attorney-general," Dr. Kelly said, "that I hadn't thought I'd live to see that day."

Sea Claims Two Victoria Children As Police, Doctors Lose Long Fight

BY PETER BRUTON

A team of doctors and city police lost a two-hour fight to save the lives of a small boy and girl who fell into the sea close to the shore end of Ogden Point breakwater yesterday morning.

Victims in the drowning were:

Patricia (Patty) Verne, three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verne, 71 Dock Street;

Stephen Heighes, two-and-a-half, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heighes, 70 Pilot Street.

REPORTED MISSING

Police were scouring the district for little Patricia who had been reported missing at 10 a.m., when first news of the tragedy was phoned in at 11.25.

The youngsters are believed to have climbed over the rocks and logs on the beach in a secluded spot where they evidently slipped into the swirling, five-feet-deep waters.

There were no witnesses.

The two bodies were seen floating in the water by H. A. Goodman, 1045 Joan Crescent, as he was walking along the beach shortly before 11.30.

Mr Goodman rushed into the B.C. Pilotage office a few yards away and turned in the alarm.

Then, with Capt Arthur Gilbert, 3831 Blenkinsop, and Walter Tribe, 291 Island Highway, he returned to the scene. The three men had retrieved one of the bodies and had secured a line to the other when police arrived.

Const Ken Wainwright who had been searching the district for little Patricia jumped into the waist deep water and pulled out the other child.

Artificial respiration was immediately applied but after a minute or so the bodies were carried to the police wagon which had arrived on the scene.

Further resuscitation measures were taken during the dash to St. Joseph's Hospital, where doctors and an inhalator squad worked on the children for another hour.

EFFORTS FAIL

The children failed to respond and were pronounced dead at about 1.15 p.m.

The children's tricycle and kiddy-car were found at the top of the beach where they had left them before climbing over the rocks.

Capt. E. H. Sweeney, 1657 Hollywood Crescent, who was in the pilotage office at the time, said he had heard no cries to indicate anything was amiss.

"All the kids come down here to play," said Captain Sweeney. "We usually yell at them to go away but we didn't see these two this morning."

Harrison Plans Trip To Ottawa

Mayor Claude Harrison will go to Ottawa to ask the federal government "point blank what it will give toward a new Point Ellice Bridge."

The mayor made this announcement yesterday after a meeting of the city council finance committee. He said he had told the committee he had been in touch with Premier W. A. C. Bennett about the bridge and the upshot was that Ottawa would be asked for a definite answer.

The mayor has hopes, he says, of provincial as well as federal aid in building at Point Ellice.

In Ottawa he will see Prime Minister St. Laurent, Transport Minister George Marler, Dr. F. T. Fairey, Victoria MP, and others.

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY

Mayor Harrison will argue that construction of a new bridge is partly a federal government responsibility because the bridge crosses harbor waters, under federal jurisdiction, and is needed for defense traffic.

Various types of bridge have been suggested in the past few years in city council, with estimates ranging to more than $800,000 for the most costly.

The city has a slowly-growing bridge fund of more than $190,000 from tax reverted land sales.

Dies as 'Chute Fails

Paratrooper's Body Coming to Victoria

The body of 24-year-old Donald Leslie Mason, Victoria paratrooper with the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, is being brought home for burial.

Pte Mason died yesterday when his parachute failed to open during a jump on manoeuvres of western Canada's striking forces at Lloyd Lake, 10 miles southwest of Calgary.

Pte. Mason did not have a chance to pull the rip cord on his second, emergency parachute. His fall from 1,000 feet, was too fast and he was too greatly hampered by the folds of the 'chute which failed him.

Four other jumpers were injured yesterday in the same operation.

SAME TYPE

The soldiers were wearing the same type of parachute which failed L-Cpl. Gerard Gagnon 23, during an Eastern Canadian exercise recently. Cpl Gagnon fractured a leg and disc in his spine when he plummeted into four feet of snow.

Another jumper was saved by a comrade who seized him as he fell, his parachute "streamered" and useless. The two men descended on one 'chute.

Pte. Mason married a Victoria girl last October, Jean McBratney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Fred G. McBratney. She has been living in Calgary.

Capt F. T. Harris of Kingston, Ont with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, made the jump in the same "stick" as Mason but from another plane. Capt. Harris, a veteran of 27 jumps said.

HAD NO IDEA

"Everything in the operation was very, very smooth. There didn't seem to be anything wrong. I had no idea a man in my stick had been killed.

"The landing was quite good. Snow covering the ice cushioned the fall. I had no idea anyone was injured. I saw the ambulance but went directly to my grouping point which was in an opposite direction from where the man fell."

In the supply drop which followed B Company's jump, two chutes on equipment parcels did not open.

Program Will Help Aged, Handicapped

A far-reaching program designed to make the lives of the physically handicapped and aged of Greater Victoria more interesting and useful was presented to the Community Welfare Council, a Community Chest planning agency, last night.

Two committees which have studied needs of the groups made these major recommendations:

Appointment of a Greater Victoria rehabilitation co-ordinator to draw up a program for the handicapped.

Appointment of a planning committee and opening of a central office to assist the aged.

The welfare council approved the request of the two committees to approach the provincial government for financial assistance.

Only finances mentioned were $8,000 for the rehabilitation co-ordinator, his office and special funds for the first year.

DUTIES LISTED

Committee on rehabilitation of the handicapped, led by Adrian Gilmore, director of social services at Royal Jubilee Hospital, listed these duties for the co-ordinator:

Promotion of employment of handicapped people, a record of progress and needs of every disabled person; organization of a volunteer transportation pool; proper schooling for handicapped children; proper physio and occupational therapy on a home visiting basis, promotion of a brace and splint shop to meet district needs, and diversional activities for the disabled.

Need for a proper rehabilitation centre first mentioned after a 1953 survey was repeated and the committee said Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals should expand to accommodate extensive out-patient departments and physical medical programs, even though this might force St. Joseph's to start new construction and add to staff.

VOLUNTEER BUREAU

The committee also urged a volunteer bureau to act as a clearing house for requests for home nursing service.

For the handicapped who have no way to pay medical bills, the committee recommended that $1,000 be set aside to make "at least token payments" to doctors, which the co-ordinator would arrange.

The appointee would co-ordinate training and services provided by hospitals, social workers, placement officers, welfare department, philanthropic organizations, employers and the community.

Reaction Violent To Attack

Officers and men of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires were silent in face of the label "scabs" pinned on them Wednesday by retail clerks' union delegate John Aubrey.

But in other quarters there was immediate, hot reaction.

Mr. Aubrey called the federal government hypocritical because it was retiring HMC Dockyard employees and letting commissionaires continue their duties there.

"They are letting scabs in the back door," he said, and termed the commissionaires "nothing better than uniformed scabs."

Commented Ald Brent Murdoch:

"It is an absolute disgrace for a man of the calibre of John Aubrey to make such a statement with regard to the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires.

"When one hears this sort of thing one wonders what the people who cry 'scab' did while the men of the Commissionaires Corps were doing the fighting," said Col James D. Baird.

"I hope we are not going to take this lying down," said Ray Parfitt, president of the Canadian Legion.

Bloodhounds Needed?

Condemned Fugitives Escape Lock-Up

All roads were being watched last night as city police stepped up the hunt for two condemned fugitives who made a break for freedom from a city lock up Wednesday.

Most eagerly sought is an unknown man who masterminded the escape.

A third was recaptured without a struggle yesterday afternoon.

But lest residents of the city become alarmed police hurried to explain that the fugitives were dogs, two slated to die in the gas chamber, the "mastermind" was evidently an animal lover and the lock up was the city pound.

Max Lohbrunner, 1245 Dominion told police someone had entered the pound after prying off the door hasp with a piece of pipe.

"I heard someone talking in the pound about 7.30 p.m." he said.

A quick check by pound officials showed nothing had been disturbed or taken—apart from the missing dogs.

A Labrador bitch was recaptured yesterday afternoon; still missing were a red cocker male and a black cocker bitch. The recaptured dog is not one of the condemned.

Pound officials grumbled, dog lovers cheered.

Don't Blame Mothers Sad Neighbors Say

Joint funeral service will be held Monday for the two little victims of yesterday's Dallas Road drowning, Patricia Verne, 3, and Stephen Heighes, 2½.

The whole neighborhood has been saddened by the tragedy.

Neighbors, who did not wish to be named, told The Daily Colonist:

"People will say—or wonder—what were these two little people doing so near the water and unsupervised?

"That is a terrible suggestion. The parents, and the mothers especially, of these children, were devoted to them. They were always watchful. Their yards were fenced—there were even ropes and trellis arrangements to prevent a baby climbing over the fence.

"How they escaped from their yards and wandered to the seashore no one will ever know. Perhaps some other child opened the gates for them."

Funeral will be from Sands chapel at 1.30 p.m., Monday, Rev. J. G. Brown officiating.

Burial will be at Royal Oak.

Will Cost $20,000,000

Projects To Shorten Phone Waiting List

Greater Victoria residents who have been on the waiting list for telephone service are not forgotten in the B.C. Telephone Company's $20,000,000 expansion plans for the year.

Victoria projects include installation of switchboard, automatic equipment, and outside plant, but the biggest job is addition of automatic equipment in the central office block at Blanshard and Johnson.

In addition, the long distance switchboard will be enlarged to provide faster service.

These plans were given The Daily Colonist last night following announcement of the $20,000,000 development.

Island exchanges at Duncan, Nanaimo, Port Alberni and Courtenay are to have additional switchboards to meet continued growth of the communities.

Belmont, Sidney, Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Parksville, Cumberland and Courtenay exchanges will have additional outside cable and lines to provide for new subscribers.

Not included in this year's estimates, but scheduled for completion in 1956, is a further addition to Victoria central office equipment. It is larger than the one currently being made and work will start on it late in the year.

City Calls Keep Ambulance Busy

Police received two ambulance calls at 5.20 p.m. yesterday.

Dennis Smart, 23, of 305 Linden, injured his ankle at the Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd. He was taken to St. Joseph's.

Robert Malcolm, 36 of 1916 Stanley, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a broken leg. His car slipped its brakes and backed over him.

Tuesday Cooks Toss Pancakes

Let's prepare for pancake Tuesday. This year Shrove Tuesday, the day when everyone should eat pancakes, is February 22, so this is the week end to stock up on mixes, flours and syrups.

Your favorite pancake and waffle mix is selling in most stores for 23 cents and 55 cents. The former amount will buy 1 pound 4 ounces, the latter 3 pounds 8 ounces. If you prefer [illegible] price.

To grease the griddle, I'd suggest mazola oil at 43 cents a tin or peanut oil at 63 cents. When they're tossed on your plate, spread the pancakes with butter, 69 cents a pound, and pour on the maple syrup.

One chain store has a pancake and waffle syrup specially priced. A 33-ounce bottle flavored with imitation maple costs only 33 cents. However, you can buy 12 fluid ounces of 100 per cent Canadian maple syrup, packed in Quebec province, for 67 cents. A 26-ounce bottle of the medium syrup comes at 84 cents, while the giant 64-ounce size is $2.95.

English golden syrup is considerably cheaper. A 2-pound tin is only 37 cents.

To make your own maple syrup, get some maple sugar and melt it. Eight ounces cost approximately 37 cents, while a pound retails at 69 cents.

If you like to make small pancakes to be eaten cold at tea time, try spreading them with maple butter. Made entirely from maple sap, it has the consistency of peanut butter. A 12-ounce jar, which can be used later as a tumbler, costs 75 cents.

Personally, I enjoy bacon or sausages with my pancakes. Mild sugar-cured rindless side bacon is selling for 33 cents a packet and pure pork sausages are 57 cents a pound.

To add variety, try some of the fancy chocolate, banana or buttermilk pancakes. Semi-sweet chocolate can be bought for 53 cents a half pound, while the unsweetened is 64 cents.

Mrs. Misner Wins Spur

A St. Valentine theme predominated at the regular meeting of the Arbutus Toastmistress Club held at the Aberdeen Hotel recently. Mrs. J. S. Patterson, president, read the inspiration, and the table topic, "Sweepstakes", was presented by Miss Florence Scovil.

Three new members, Madame G. E. Vautrin, Mrs. T. Sewell, and Mrs. A. W. Sewell were inducted in an impressive ceremony conducted by Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. J. R. Brandon.

Mrs. Brandon proposed a toast to Mrs. Patterson, "the sweetheart of the Arbutus Club."

The speakers and their topics were Mrs. T. Ackerman, "Waste Not Want Not", Mrs. D. Misner, "Salesmanship", Mrs. G. Perry, "Sea Monster", Mrs. H. Robinson, "Magic Carpet"; and Miss Muriel McKeown, "Words in Relation to Expression".

Mrs. H. P. Mickelson gave a lesson on "Words" and was thanked by Miss Alice Atkins.

The critics for the evening were Mrs. C. C. Warren, Mrs. H. P. Mickelson, Mrs. J. G. Patterson and Miss F. Scovil. Miss Pat L'Amie acted as lexicologist and the timing report was given by Mrs. L. S. Hemming. Mrs. A. T. Thomnsett, the evaluator, presented the awards. The Spur was won by Mrs. D. Misner and the Oscar by Mrs. T. Ackerman.

PANCAKE TEA

St. Alban's Senior WA will hold a pancake tea in the church hall, corner of Ryan and Belmont Ave., on Tuesday February 22, to be opened by the Rev. J. W. Leighton at 2.30 p.m. The president, Mrs. J. H. Comber, will welcome the guests. Tea arrangements are in the hands of Mrs. L. Simon and Mrs. E. J. Scott. There will also be homecooking with Mrs. A. Hemsley and Mrs. M. Broadbent in charge. Pouring tea will be Mrs. W. E. Greenhalgh, Mrs. A. Hampton, Mrs. W. E. Drysdale, Mrs. A. Yeates.

Criticize Banff Beauty Contest

Miss Yukon became queen of Alberta's Banff winter carnival, but the story doesn't end there. After the judging and coronation, Miss Lethbridge (Josephine Taborski) said the publicity build-up accompanying Miss Yukon was responsible for her victory. She thought the crown should have gone to Miss Crow's Nest (Marina Lynch-Staunton). Miss Yukon (Dalls Smith) is designated by arrow.—(Central Press Canadian)

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

Newest footwear for spring and resort wear is designed in the lightest, thinnest and most supple leathers you've ever worn. This is a trend that is catching on and the stiff heel and rigid toe in footwear is entirely omitted from many of the newest shoe styles. They will smooth over your foot as gloves do on your hands with a feeling that is light, gay and that should contribute to the light and graceful step!

Whether you choose flats or the shoes with a very bare expression, you will find more and more attention focused on your feet. With all this loveliness offered you not only in wonderful rich leathers but in the fabulous array of colors, be sure that your feet are attractive too. Shoes that show off toes in sheer hosiery demand toenails pedicured to within an inch of perfection. Heels too must be smooth in the shoe that bares both toes and heels. Nightly scrubbing with a brush and creaming will help them look more attractive and, of course, legs and insteps must be devoid of any unattractive fuzz.

Some of you enjoy buying shoes and surely this is your season if they make you feel like a new person. Though you may be a fairly conservative type, enjoy the fun of a colorful pair of flats or sandals for wear at home. You're in for a surprise in the wide range of feeling expressed in the new shoes for you'll find kids decorated with straws, and beautiful contrasting colored kids, or a combination of colored suede with smooth kid which you may prefer for casual wear outdoors.

At any rate be sure this spring that you step out newly shod in footwear to match the lighthearted mood of the season!

Nominations committee was Mrs. Gurton, Mrs. E. Lasafolk and Mrs. H. Bennett.

Ian Munday Wed in East

In a ceremony at Bedford Park Chapel, Toronto, Mavis Vera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M. Strong of Olds, Alberta, became the bride of Mr. Ian Sutherland Munday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Munday. Mr. Maurice W. Murphy officiated.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William C. Stender, the bride wore a street-length dress of winter white serpentine faille and gold feather hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses and white carnations. Miss Marion Vallillee was bridesmaid and wore turquoise serpentine faille with hat of pink straw. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Wilber Sutherland was best man and the ushers were Donald Ford and Kenneth Louden.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William C. Stender of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. E. A. Halvorson of Sundre, Alberta, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Munday of Victoria, B.C.; Miss Jenifer Munday of Vancouver, B.C.; Mr. David Rice of Roseland, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Maurice W. Murphy of Syracuse, N.Y.; Mr. Kenneth Louden of London, Ontario.

Brown Potatoes In Oven

If your family's fond of browned potatoes try making them this way, in the oven.

Into a greased backing dish, slice 4 medium potatoes, making your slices thin. Salt and pepped well and over all sprinkle 4 tablespoons of melted bacon fat, stirring potatoes around so that it is equally distributed. Dot with 2 tablespoons of butter and place in a 450 deg. oven. Cook 10 minutes, then with a spatula, turn potatoes and cook 10 minutes more. They'll come out brown and delicious.

Multiple Sclerosis Tea Realizes $150

Victorians responded generously at a tea held in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company, last Saturday, by the local chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Welcoming the guests were Mrs. O. H. Lamont, vice-chairman, Miss Bess McGillivray, an executive member, Mrs. E. S. Millard, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blankeney, of the League of [illegible]

Mr. Steve Solvason and Mr. Warren Blake, pianists, provided background music during the tea.

The sum of $150 was realized and will be used to defray expenses of the local chapter.

Anyone wishing to become a member of the Multiple Sclerosis Society may do so by paying the annual subscription fee of $2. All money raised from subscriptions is sent to Montreal for research work.

Every youngster should pay his first visit to the dentist by the age of three, since many children already have cavities at that age.

BLEM—the new professional finish-restoring compound

Rubs out burns, scratches, scars no furniture polish can touch!

Use BLEM to treat furniture for damage like this

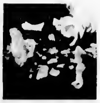
Burns: To repair burns, just dab on BLEM and rub the burned spot vigorously. BLEM removes charred edges, helps restore color to exposed wood, greatly minimizes the damage. Let dry. Rub BLEM off. Then apply Pride to the entire surface.

White Marks: Marks from hot liquids and containers can be rubbed out with BLEM. Not a "hiding agent," not a polish, BLEM actually recompounds the surface the way a professional refinisher would. Then Pride restores the gleaming wax lustre.



Scratches: BLEM rubs out scratches as no other household product can. It smooths down sharp edges . . . reduces gouge damage . . . helps restore color to bare wood! An application of Pride completes the transformation.

Other Stubborn Mars: Most blemishes and blotches caused by nail polish, polish remover, milk, alcohol, etc., can be rubbed out or greatly minimized with BLEM. And if BLEM doesn't repair the damage, nothing short of professional refinishing will.

The sum of $116.39 was spent on gifts for the orphanage, including a slide for the younger children. A total of $336.39 was spent on Child and Family Welfare.

A further donation of $100 went to the Victoria Nursing Home to help with the furnishing of a sunroom.

A Christmas hamper, costing $20 was given to a needy family and $25 was donated to the Korea project.

Mrs. Graham Harris, educational secretary, stated that an album of records and a film strip had been sent to the adopted school at Bear Creek.

Mrs. J. A. Dunn, secretary, reported that fund raising projects had included a home cooking sale, two rummage sales and the annual penny sale held jointly with the Navy League Chapter.

The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. C. Medley, showed total receipts as $639.95 and disbursements of $692.52.

Miss Peggy MacNeill, who was re-elected regent, thanked the members for their help during the year.

Reports were also given by Mrs. M. Kendall, Echoes secretary, and Mrs. M. Campbell, standard bearer.

[illegible] Mrs. W. T. Fraser, first vice-regent; Mrs. Pitkethley, second vice-regent, Mrs. J. A. Dunn, secretary; Mrs. C. Medley, treasurer; Miss E. Nagle, educational secretary; Mrs. M. Kendall, Echoes and Mrs. M. Campbell, standard bearer.

Mrs. J. L. Gates, municipal regent, and Mrs. J. L. Ford, honorary vice-regent of the chapter were special guests at the meeting and buffet supper. Pale yellow tulips, flanked by pale yellow tapers centred the supper table which was laden with cold turkey, salads including one made with marshmallow, grapes and chopped cabbage, pickled walnuts, jellies, pickles and radishes. Pineapple icing topped the mammoth angel cakes which were served with orange ice cream. Mrs. H. B. McClung, carved the cold bird and assisted Mrs. Pitkethley in serving.

IODE Chapter Aids Flood Relief Fund

The 34 members of the Gonzales Chapter, IODE, have enjoyed an active and successful year, it was reported at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. D. Mara, 820 Pemberton Road, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. H. D. Hulme, secretary, gave a resume of the year's work. The principal activities were the tea, white elephant sale and raffle held at Mrs. Mara's, and a tea at the home of Mrs. Murray Cameron to which members and friends brought knitted articles.

The treasurer's report read by Mrs. A. L. Livingstone-Learmonth, showed a balance of $96.17. The sum of $20 was donated to the Ontario Flood Relief Fund and $60 was spent on bursaries. Books and magazines valued at $115.63 were sent to the adopted schools. Entertainments brought in $111.17, a sale of calendars netted $21, and the tea at Mrs. Cameron's raised $71.

Mrs. Livingstone-Learmonth announced that 24 nursery bags and 30 knitted and sewn articles had been completed for the services at home and abroad committee. The sum of $33.56 was spent on wool and material for this purpose.

One of the major projects of the chapter was helping to furnish the library at the Gorge Road Hospital. Bookcases were donated for this purpose and Mrs. Harry Barnard kindly presented 100 books to help fill them.

Mrs. A. H. Chisholm was re-elected regent for the coming year. Other officers installed were Miss Marion Pitts, first vice-regent; Mrs. Murray Cameron, second vice-regent; Mrs. W. R. Hobbs, secretary; Mrs. A. L. Livingstone-Learmonth, treasurer; Mrs. Duncan Kerfoot, educational secretary; Mrs. R. W. Shannon, standard bearer; Mrs. G. A. Henson, assistant secretary.

Rebekah Chief Honor Guest

Mrs. Dorothy Ward, president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, was guest of honor at the recent meeting of the Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1. During the evening she presented Mrs. Julia Johnson of Colfax Lodge with a veteran's jewel on behalf of the Past Noble Grands Club.

The sum of $26.40 collected at the meeting, was presented to Mrs. Ward for her project "The Oddfellow and Rebekah Residence Fund", following her address entitled "Key to Kindness."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Gift of Tea From Ceylon Handed Out

A gift of tea from Ceylon was distributed among seven charitable organizations Wednesday at Red Cross House.

Red Cross officials in Ceylon, who have received aid from the Canadian Junior Red Cross, sent a goodwill gift of 500 pounds of tea to Canada, and 30 pounds was allotted to Victoria.

The tea was distributed by high school members of the Victoria Red Cross to Mrs. E. Holgate and Miss Dorothy Stark of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Mrs. E. Campbell of the Family and Children's Service; Mrs. O. H. Lamont of the Multiple Sclerosis Society and League of the Handicapped, Mrs. W. C. Hudson of the Red Cross Lodge; Mrs. F. Chamberlain of the Junior Auxiliary to the Orphanage and a representative of the old age pensioners.

COUGH RELIEF WITHOUT STOMACH UPSET!

Here is a new, pleasant cough medicine that does not upset stomach or appetite! Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. A combination of a new penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The penetrating ingredient carries the medicine to irritated crevices of the throat, where the medicating ingredient can go right to work.

That's why it's named Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. It medicates as it penetrates.

6 IN MEMORIAM

GRUBB — In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Grubb, who passed away Feb. 18, 1954.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days.
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Few her equal on earth we'll find.

—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered always by Bob, Fred, Dick, Carol, Peggie and grandchildren.

SMITH — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bertie J. Smith, who passed away Feb. 18, 1944.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land
Never to part again.

—Lovingly remembered by his wife, family, and sister Lizzie in England.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

What about television and UHF?

To most people, the letters are just another setting on the TV dial. For most of us, this situation will remain for a few years to come.

But, in a year or two, UHF will come into its own. The facts are these:

A few years ago, when TV was planned, it was considered that 13 channels would be plenty. These were allotted in the present very-high frequency range.

(Yes, television had a channel 1, at first.)

When TV grew up overnight, it outgrew these channels, and more space had to be found. This was only available on much higher frequencies—on the ultra-high frequencies, in fact.

So channels 14 to 84 were allotted in the UHF.

Because the lower VHF channels have already been taken up by stations in major centres, community stations will find themselves on the UHF channels.

The nearest UHF station is in Yakima, which has KIMA-TV on channel 29. Channel 23 is also earmarked for that area.

Portland, Eugene, and Salem, Oregon, have UHF stations on channels 27, 20 and 24.

Seattle and Port Angeles have also been allotted UHF channels, although there are no prospects of new stations at present.

If smaller centres in British Columbia eventually get TV stations, these will undoubtedly be on the UHF channels.

The range of these stations will be less than VHF stations, because of the nature of the frequencies used. But the pictures will look the same.

The advent of UHF here will create few problems. Most modern TV sets have provision for the new channels.

* * *

By the way, what DID happen to channel 1?

"It's no use—we just can't get a baby sitter 'til we get a TV set."

SUBMARINE WARFARE — Tonight's "Victory at Sea" chapter, on KOMO-TV at 6.30, deals with the measures adopted to wrest control of the seas from Hitler's U-boats in 1941, 1942 and 1943.

HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING — Ezzard Charles and Charlie Norris are featured fighters at Madison Square Garden, when KOMO-TV cameras tune in at 7.

BLESSED EVENT — Rin Tin Tin becomes a foster father, when Sandy MacDonald's dog, Nanette, has a litter of pups, and "Corporal Rusty" gets one, on KING-TV at 7.30.

WARTIME ADVENTURE — Gracie Fields and Constance Bennett star in "Paris Underground," on KVOS-TV at 10.

SCIENCE FICTION — Alexander Korda presents Raymond Massey and Sir Cedric Hardwick in "The Shape of Things to Come," on KING-TV at 10.45.

STIRRING DRAMA — James Mason stars in the rags-to-riches story of a waitress who marries a millionaire and who wishes she hadn't, on CBUT at 11. Barbara Bel Geddes is the love interest.

Bang, Whistle, Two Pops and a Fizzle

Homemade Jet Helicopter Tested—They Never Got It Off the Ground

SEATTLE (UP)—With a bang, a whistle, and two pops, an amateur inventor tried to fly his home-made jet-propelled helicopter here yesterday. He'll try again in the spring.

Although he had faith in his machine, Fred Bushnell, an air [illegible] Air Force Base and spare time plane designer, wasn't taking any chances with his craft. He had it securely anchored to a barrel of sand.

"I'm not too sure what she'll do," Bushnell said. "I don't want her to go too high until I try her out a little."

YEAR OF WORK

The 48-year-old mechanic has worked on his plane for nearly a year with the sometime help of his wife, four sons and a daughter.

An eight-foot dural-metal tripod forms the framework of the helicopter. A pair of three-horsepower jet engines usually found in model planes and boats are mounted on the tips of a 14-foot solid spruce blade which furnishes the lift and [illegible] the craft. A kitchen chair fastened to a [illegible] the base of the tripod serves as a cockpit.

"My biggest trouble is getting both engines to operate together," Bushnell said. "I get one started and then when I start the other, the first engine goes out."

OTHER EFFORTS

While his helpers, his nine-year-old son, Robert, and a neighbor, labored to get the engines going, Bushnell explained this wasn't his first effort in the airplane designing field. He said he has designed other helicopters and gliders.

A "not so good" sail plane crashed during a flight some years ago and Bushnell fractured his skull.

When his assistants reported yesterday they couldn't get the engines running, Bushnell only shrugged his shoulders.

Forum Slated On Resources

Right of the federal government to place restrictions on provincial exports of natural resources will be the topic at the second in a series of forums sponsored by the CCF Youth Movement.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the CCF Hall on Douglas Street, the meeting will have as speakers Arthur Laing, provincial Liberal leader; Robert Strachan (CCF Cowichan-Newcastle), Victoria Alderman Donald Smith, and C. S. Burchill, instructor at Royal Roads.

Biggest Freighter Due Here

Largest ocean-going freighter ever built in Canada, the 12,700-ton Sunrip will make her first trip to Victoria Sunday to load 683,000 feet of lumber for Miami, Fla. The 475-foot vessel, which has a service speed of 13½ knots, was launched in Quebec last year and chartered to an Alcan subsidiary on a long-term basis. Built especially to carry aluminum oxide from Jamaica to Kitimat, Sunrip transports aluminum ingots, lumber, fish, newsprint, flour and grain on her return journies.

Movie About West Point Touch and Go for 11 Years

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie mogul Jerry Wald set an all-time record with a new film which goes into the popcorn palaces this week: the picture was 11 years in the making and almost didn't get made at all because no one would star in it.

The movie is "The Long Gray Line," the story of West Point.

"I began working on the picture February 22, 1944," Wald said. "That's when I wrote the Point asking permission to do a story. But the brass were cool about it and I didn't blame them.

FOUR KINDS

"Up till then there were only four kinds of pictures about West Point: the wise guy (usually played by someone like Dick Powell) who finally gets his come-uppance; the coward who becomes a hero; a musical version and the story of two cadets fighting over the same girl.

"I wanted to do a cavalcade of West Point as an institution combined with the warm story of an individual, someone like Mr. Chips."

Since 1944 Wald has filled four large albums with notes, letters and memos for the picture.

"I was at Warner's when I got the idea, but no one was interested. After I'd moved to RKO in 1951 Marty Maher, the old sergeant at the Point, came out with his book, 'Bringing Up the Brass,' and I knew I had the character and story.

BOUGHT IT

"But Howard Hughes refused to buy the book," Wald went on. "When I arrived here at Columbia as executive producer Harry Cohn agreed to buy it for $12,000."

Wald took time out to explain that he had had "The Long Gray Line" in mind for the title from the beginning. He said "Bringing Up the Brass" sounded like a small picture while his own title had the ring of a super-colossal.

"Ed Hope and Bob Arthur finally turned out the script and that's as far as we got. You'd be surprised by the big stars who wouldn't touch the part. They all refused to do it—the biggest names in the business turned it down.

"I got discouraged a couple of years ago and put it on the shelf. Then John Ford came along and agreed to direct it. He insisted John Wayne was the only man for the part of Marty, but Wayne was unavailable. I wanted Tyrone Power and finally got the actor together with Ford."

Movieland critics agree now that Power is in line for next year's Oscar for his performance.

"We've got a bigger hit than 'From Here To Eternity' on our hands," Wald said proudly, "and half the actors and directors in town are kicking themselves for passing up one of the best pictures of the year."

Gerald Aitken Given Post

Gerald Aitken was named second vice-president of North and South Saanich Agricultural Association at a meeting Tuesday night. He takes the position of the late Walwyn Williams.

The meeting decided to separate the position of secretary-treasurer and Stuart Stoddart was elected treasurer and A. C. Howe will continue as secretary.

This Bath Too Hot

NORTH VANCOUVER (BUP)—Electrical sparks instead of water shot out of the bathtub taps when Mrs. Karl Azerman prepared to step into the tub.

Mrs. Azerman said "blue sparks" crackled from the taps when she went to turn them on, forcing a hurried decision to postpone her bath.

She dashed outside to find firemen patrolling a blown-

Calder Raps Remarks About Fellow-Indians

Usually mild-mannered Frank Calder (CCF, Atlin) yesterday tore into the government for what he termed "discriminatory" remarks about fellow members of his race.

[illegible] in Canada Mr Calder criticized I. F Corbett (SC Yale) who in the afternoon had said he couldn't advocate allowing Indians in beer parlors and liquor stores because "I don't want blood on my hands."

Mr. Calder said the Yale member left the impressions that "Indians are going berserk outside of beer parlors." He said they were no worse than persons of any other race who drank too much, and he blamed "greedy operators" for serving people too much liquor.

The soft-spoken Atlin member also went after Labor Minister Lyle Wicks for what Mr Calder termed "condescension" in the minister's recent references to Indians. The provincial Indian affairs department is under Mr. Wicks' jurisdiction.

He also turned his criticism to Vancouver Burrard Social [illegible] spoken against giving full liquor privileges to Indians, calling it "progress in reverse."

Mr Calder said he would be well to "clean up his own back yard first in dope addiction and all sorts of other crimes."

He said Indians are "victims of liquor restrictions," but like any other race there are good and bad ones. He said the good ones try to discipline the bad ones.

He also scored newspapers for making a point of mentioning that a person is an Indian when reporting a crime.

The constituency of Lillooet has produced its share of rebels in British Columbia political affairs.

J. Gordon Gibson burly Liberal MLA for the riding Wednesday became the first member in the 75 year history of the B.C. legislature to be "named" and dismissed from the house for misconduct.

But before that time a member [illegible] council had his seat taken from him for charges he made. His name was Thomas B Humphreys and his constituency was Lillooet.

The earlier Lillooet member charged outside the council that the minister of land and works "had control of the office without the slightest check upon him, and that about $500,000 had passed through his hands, of which no account could be obtained."

Humphreys was removed from office by Governor Musgrave. The minister he accused was Joseph Trutch, later a B.C. lieutenant-governor. But the incident was much different from that involving Mr. Gibson Wednesday in that the members were appointed by the governor to the council.

Opposition Never Forgets

J. Alan Reid the Salmon Arm Social Crediter who made a name for himself in 1952 with charges of sex teaching and Communism in the schools steered clear of the subject yesterday.

But the Opposition won't let him forget it.

When Mr Reid was attacking socialism as "the very antithesis of democracy" Randolph Harding (CCF, Kelso Slocan) shouted to him:

"Tell us about education!"

Then Liberal Leader Arthur Laing joined in: "Yes talk about a subject you know something about."

Later on Mr. Harding said: "Now tell us about 'Effective Living'."

It was the "Effective Living" text used in junior high schools on which Mr Reid based his charges of sex teaching in the schools in his maiden speech in the legislature.

But Mr. Reid plodded along quietly with his attack on socialism. He said the Opposition was suffering from "frustration in their ranks" because they could find nothing to oppose, and he found the contributions of the Liberal group "disappointing."

On agriculture he asked for government legislation to improve weed control, increased aid to the 4H Clubs, and measures to provide more electrification for farmers.

He said the Social Credit government had turned the PGE from a Liberal "white elephant" into a paying proposition.

* * *

The people of British Columbia think members of the legislature are acting "like a bunch of kids" because of statements made by Liberal MLAs, Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said in the house last night.

"Is there some kind of a sinister plot?" he asked.

Then he answered his own question with, "They are trying to build up an issue . . . They can't find anything solid against the government, so they must manufacture the lies such as we have here."

Speaking of the "tragic confusion that reigns supreme in the ranks of the poor, disorganized Liberals," Mr. Gaglardi quoted Liberal statements about Social Credit monetary theory, the PGE railway and forest management policies.

These remarks and the inference "that we have accepted bribes" shows how "diabolical statements" do such harm as to make citizens think legislators are acting "like a bunch of kids," he said.

"Never in my life have I had to sit and take the kind of abuse we have been subject to," the minister said.

Mr. Gaglardi explained that although J. Gordon Gibson (L., Lillooet) made his charges Monday, the government did not have time to demand a retraction until Wednesday because either the premier or Mr. Gibson was absent.

The packed public galleries murmured when Mr Gibson arrived late last night and the fiery Liberal was soon in the thick of debate.

Said Mr. Gaglardi of Mr Gibson, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

The reply from tall Mr Gibson to short Mr. Gaglardi: "You haven't got far to fall."

What's in a Naming?

The "naming" procedure invoked Wednesday by Speaker Thomas Irwin to dismiss Mr Gibson from the legislature is the traditional method of slapping wrists.

Never before used in the history of the B.C. legislature, the procedure is inherited from the British House of Commons where members have been "named" for misconduct.

Ordinarily during the house business members are referred to by their constituency. They sit not as individuals but as representatives of their ridings. They are "The Honorable member for Lillooet" or in the case of ministers, "The Honorable the minister of forests."

When a member is "named" he is then demoted in one sense to the status of an ordinary person sitting in a place where he does not belong. He is addressed not as an MLA but as an individual.

Thus reprimanded, the member leaves or is led out by the sergeant-at-arms. Naming, therefore, is the last resort used by the Speaker to control an unruly or disobedient member.

* * *

I. F Corbett (SC, Yale) yesterday defended the principle of forest management licenses but he said they should be sold by public auction.

In the logging business in private life Mr Corbett delighted Liberal member Gordon Gibson by agreeing with him at least on one point. The Liberal member for Lillooet has consistently advocated public auction of all timber.

Mr. Corbett also felt timber sales should remain on a public auction basis, but operators located in the area near the timber sales "should get first refusal."

One of the faults of the auction system, he said, was that some operators pay others not to bid on a timber sale.

He said the government should never return to the old method, which created "ghost towns" and over-cutting.

Victoria apparently will not have a new courthouse this year.

When George Gregory (L. Victoria) told Public Works Minister Gaglardi in the legislature yesterday that he was anxiously waiting for word of a new courthouse, the minister replied:

"If I said I would be building the courthouse this year, that wouldn't be the truth."

Borrowing Power Approved

The CCF and Liberal opposition both supported second reading of bills providing extra borrowing power for the PGE and B.C. Power Commission yesterday but not without criticism.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, in moving second reading of the PGE bill to boost the borrowing power from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000, made one of his most spirited speeches of the session.

He said about $6,000,000 in contracts let on the southern extension were well within estimates. He said directors hoped to have trains running from North Vancouver to Squamish in the summer of 1956, "if all goes well."

Answering Opposition criticism of the debt, he said total cost of the borrowings, capital and interest, will be met out of the earnings of the railway.

He also said he has had "verbal offers" from private interests for the PGE but the government does not propose to sell.

Reading from the financial statement, he said there was a $265,000 surplus for the railway this year.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing gave his group's support of the bill with the hope that the premier would find out the future plans of the CPR and CNR in the northern part of B.C.

The CCF last night gave "reluctant approval" to the bill containing the new educational formula, during continuation of the debate on second reading in the legislature.

Arnold Webster, opposition leader, said the CCF supported the formula but criticized these points:

A three-year period is too long for review and the bill should be reviewed after one year; teachers' salaries apart from increments will be frozen for three years, as far as the government is concerned; local school boards will hesitate to increase number of teachers because they will have to pay 25 per cent of added salaries, and too-rigid cost standards will threaten the independence of the boards.

J. Gordon Gibson: Fisherman, Lumberjack

BY GEORGE NICHOLSON

The man whose charges in the B.C. legislature caused his temporary expulsion from the house and so Liberal members claim, hurried the government into establishing a royal commission to investigate alleged irregularities in forest management licensing, is a broad shouldered, iron-fisted ex-lum[illegible]don Gibson.

He and his brothers, starting from rock bottom built themselves a fortune out of lumber and fish.

Gordon is the second of four brothers, sons of the late W. F. and Mrs. Gibson of Ahousat on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

J. GORDON GIBSON
the hard way

He was born at Dawson City in 1905. He attended Seymour School at Vancouver and as a boy of 12 accompanied his parents to Ahousat. That ended his education, for there was no school at Ahousat.

The family's first venture was a small shingle mill, run by a "one lung" gas engine. Logging was all by hand and Gordon was the head logger. They could only take trees that hung over the water's edge and they towed them to the mill with a 20 foot boat powered by a kerosene engine. Gordon also operated the boat.

After their father died in 1932 the boys turned to fishing pilchard and Gordon skippered their first seine boat. Within five years they had acquired a fleet of 10 fishboats and packers, one was the old CPR steamer Joan, and Gordon was her captain.

Another was the Victoria built sailing ship Malahat, which they converted into a log carrier. They were the first to carry logs from the Queen Charlotte Islands to mills on the Mainland. Logs were formerly towed in rafts. This was Gordon's own idea and he captained that ship also.

They built a cannery at North Vancouver which they still operate. They also purchased the Ginger Coote Airways and later sold out to Canadian Airways Ltd.

When the pilchards disappeared the brothers returned to logging, but on a much larger scale and by 1940 had logging camps on Nootka [illegible] Bay and Jeune Landing.

Gordon then conceived the idea of cutting their own lumber and in 1945 built an export mill at Tahsis on Nootka Sound. He not only planned and built the mill, but managed it and loaded the first ocean-going ship to call there. Ships have been loading lumber there ever since.

They then built a second mill at Port Alberni, which is almost as big as the Tahsis [illegible]

In 1952 Gordon and his brothers disposed of the Tahsis and Port Alberni mills and all their other interests on the West Coast to the Tahsis Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of the East Asiatic Co., for a sum in the millions.

The other brothers are Clarke W., Jack L. and Earson J. and all now live in comparative retirement at Vancouver.

Condition of Both Car and Driver Discussed

Counsel for a Victoria man accused of being in charge of a car while his ability was impaired by alcohol argued in Saanich police court yesterday that the Crown had failed to prove the charge.

Before the court was John Edmond Denman, 2550 Vancouver.

Defense counsel J. J. Proudfoot told Magistrate H. C. Hall that no evidence had been given the accused was driver or even that the car was in a condition to be driven.

The case was adjourned for one week.

During the hearing the court learned the car had a dead battery and had run out of gas when the police went to the stalled vehicle last Sunday.

Dr. E. L. McNiven gave evidence that he examined Denman about 9.30 a.m. Sunday and concluded the accused was not capable of driving "as his ability was impaired by alcohol."

"He was not capable of driving an hour previous to the examination," said Dr. McNiven.

Constable W. L. Stevenson said he was stopped on Cordova Bay Road about 9 a.m. by a man who was carrying a large glass jar and rubber hose. This man was intoxicated.

He went back to a car with the man and found the accused trying to start the car, which was parked half-way off the road.

The accused had stated the car ran out of gas about two hours beforehand. The constable took the men to the police station where Denman was subsequently charged.

For the defense, Henry F. Guiney said he received a phone call from the accused about 7 a.m. Sunday asking him to bring some gas out to Cordova Bay.

He had no money at the time and said he couldn't go.

Two days later Mr. Guiney went out to the spot where the car was still parked but "I couldn't move the car until I put gas in."

Kenneth Hindson also told of a telephone call from the accused for help, but his car had a flat tire and he couldn't make it.

Denman took the stand and told of drinking most of Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Later in the morning he said, he and another man drove out to Cordova Bay where the car stalled because it was out of gas. When he drove that morning his ability was not impaired, he said.

The two men sat in the car waiting for someone to apper. When no one did they started drinking and in the next two hours drank a half bottle of Scotch whisky.

The case was remanded for one week for Mr. Proudfoot to make written submissions.

Fines totaling $350 were levied on a waitress and owner of a city cafe when they were convicted of selling liquor to a person under 21.

Edna Everson, waitress at the Cameo Cafe, was fined $300 for selling the liquor to an 18-year-old naval rating, and Thomas Rapanos, co-owner of the cafe, was fined $50 for permitting liquor to be served a minor.

Both accused, who were represented by Louis Lindholm, said they thought the youth was over 21.

Remanded in custody for sentence was Reginald Carter who pleaded guilty in the theft of a vanity set from Hudson's Bay Company.

The accused said he put the box under his arm, lit a cigarette, and then "forgot" about the set. He was picked up as he walked out of the store.

Sentenced to six months imprisonment was George Vincent Sproat, no fixed address, when he appeared for sentence on a charge of theft under $25.

"You've spent most of your life in jail, haven't you?" commented Magistrate Hall in imposing sentence.

Diefenbaker Lashes Out

Immigration 'Despotism' Under Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker Thursday charged the immigration department with arrogance, abuse of authority and despotic and high-handed methods.

The Progressive Conservative member for Prince Albert also renewed in the Commons his party's demand for a Royal commission into the immigration department already rejected at this session by the government.

Mr Diefenbaker based the bulk of his attack on the fact that would-be immigrants barred entry to Canada are not given the reasons for being turned back.

He said there is bound to be some injustice and bumbling in the immigration department but "it is the first time bumbling has become the cornerstone of a policy."

Immigration Minister Pickersgill in a two-hour speech said some information about applicants who might be considered a danger to Canada's security comes from "sources not under government" on the understanding that the information is confidential and will not be made public.

That was one of the reasons, he said why his department does not make public the reasons for rejecting immigrant applications.

The questionnaire which applicants must answer pries into their private lives, he said. If an application were rejected, that in itself was bad enough without having to disclose the reasons to lawyers or to relatives now in Canada.

The disclosure might be used for purposes other than trying to have the ruling reversed, he added.

Mr Diefenbaker speaking during a Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government on its immigration policy and administration, said no greater calumny has ever been leveled against the legal profession.

He charged that Mr Pickersgill has made a worse mess of the immigration department than the "mess" he inherited from Hon Walter Harris, now finance minister.

He quoted Chief Justice W B Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court as saying that "immigration officials are fooling the public."

That attitude extends to the most senior officials of the department, Mr Diefenbaker said.

Ten-Year Dispute Set for Five Powers

LONDON (Reuters) — A five-power disarmament conference which opens here February 23 will start with East and West apparently nearer to breaking their deadlock on the subject than at any time since the war.

But the 10 years of trying to reach a settlement with the Soviet Union on the question of control over atomic and hydrogen arms production has made British diplomats wary of predicting success.

The forthcoming conference, under United Nations auspices, will be attended by representatives of the big five atomic powers: Britain, France, the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union. Its outcome will be reported back to the disarmament commission of the United Nations.

Best omen for the conference is that, for the first time, the Soviet Union has agreed to discuss an Anglo-French plan covering both conventional arms and weapons of mass destruction.

SET AS BASIS

Three months ago at the United Nations the then Soviet delegate the late Andrei Vishinsky, accepted the Anglo-French plan as the basis of discussion for a further disarmament conference. Vishinsky made it clear, however, that the Soviet Union was not committed to the Western proposals and intended to submit others of its own.

The Soviet Union consistently has demanded that banning of weapons of mass destruction should be the starting point of world disarmament. While agreeing that international teams should have access to all countries, including the Soviet Union, to see that the ban is carried out, it has balked at the idea of giving the teams powers as wide as the Western nations want.

The Anglo-French plan, for instance, provides that the teams should have complete freedom of access to inspect any production centres which they wish to see. Their very title "control organ" shows that their role would be more than one of mere passive inspection.

BULLETINS

LONDON (AP)—Otto Strasser, former high-ranking collaborator of Hitler, was taken into custody by British immigration officials when he landed at London airport today after a flight from Montreal. Defiant Liberal Back in House

Royal Commission Set Up To Probe Gibson's Charges

BY RAY BAINES

Colonist Legislative Reporter

Repeated charges of irregularities in the issuance of forest management licenses resulted yesterday in the appointment of a Royal Commission of investigation.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced to a hushed house at the opening of yesterday's sitting that Vancouver county court Judge Arthur E. Lord has been appointed a commissioner for the purpose of looking into the charges.

"Allegations have been made in the legislative assembly that there has been impropriety in connection with the issuance of forest management licenses," Mr Bonner read from an order-in-council passed at a hasty cabinet meeting yesterday morning. "The commission will ascertain "whether or not there is any truth in such allegations and whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of forest management license."

The appointment is the culmination of an unprecedented series of events which result in the "naming" of Lillooet Liberal Gordon Gibson during Wednesday's sitting.

Mr. Gibson refused to withdraw charges that "money talks" in forest management license dealings. The previous day he had said that "somebody paid something to somebody" and that he could not believe "money did not change hands."

But Mr. Gibson was back in his place yesterday. The attorney general's Wednesday motion that the rules be suspended to give him the opportunity to consider his decision resulted in his being allowed to return today.

The big Liberal yesterday called the appointment of a commissioner "a great victory" for the Liberal group. He also was unrepentent of the fact he had been the first MLA in the history of the B.C. legislature to be "named" and dismissed from the house.

He said he returned to his seat because he was "invited back by the Speaker."

"They must feel somebody blundered," he said.

Mr Gibson was informed by House Clerk Edwin de Beck that he was entitled to take his seat. His case has not actually been disposed of but it is likely

Victim Struck Dumb

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police ran into a new stumbling block Thursday in their investigation of the mystery blast that almost took the life of Jacob Leonhard, 37.

Detectives said the near-victim of an attempted gangland assassination was unable to talk due to paralysis of his speech mechanism.

Doctors attending Leonhard also said his condition is "much more serious" than suspected. They said he has a broken back, and may suffer loss of his broken right leg as a result of circulation stoppage.

Leonhard escaped death Tuesday night when a booby trap explosion shattered his late-model car, hurling pieces of metal over neighboring houses and shattering windows of surrounding homes.

Police said the search for the persons responsible for the blast was "definitely confined" to the Vancouver area.

Damage caused by the bomb-blast was placed Thursday at "between $5,000 and $6,000."

Another Princess In News

LONDON (UP) — Britons who delight in "talking up" royal romances have found a stand-in for their favorite Princess Margaret who is busy touring the British West Indies.

She is Princess Alexandra, 18-year-old cousin of Margaret and Queen Elizabeth who until now has been free from the chatter of "court circles" reporting new romances and "palace sources" denying them.

Alexandra, daughter of the late Duke of Kent who died in 1942 and the Duchess of Kent, stands ninth in line to the British throne.

She flew to Northern Ireland yesterday, her third visit in less than a year to the stately Ulster home of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn.

The duke and duchess have a 21-year-old unmarried son—and the tongues began wagging even though the Marquess of Hamilton is in Germany on duty with the elite Grenadier Guards.

At Nanaimo

Court Crackdown Hits Bootleggers

(Special to the Colonist)

NANAIMO—A crackdown on bootleggers in Nanaimo was promised yesterday by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, who declared he was "playing no favorites" in efforts to stop the illegal liquor traffic.

In police court he told two taxi drivers and a woman taxi dispatcher, all convicted on bootlegging charges, that a second offense would bring an automatic nine months in jail.

Harry Lomas, driver for Eagle Taxi, Edward Miller, driver, and Mrs Gladys Ballam, dispatcher for City Taxi, were each fined $100 when they pleaded guilty to charges.

"Considerable trouble has been caused lately with the supply of liquor to Indians and juveniles," said Magistrate Beevor-Potts.

He said another locality (Chinatown) has often been blamed for selling bootleg liquor, but he and the police have suspected for some time that most of the bootlegging done in town was "within 200 yards of my office".

"You people are much worse than the Chinese," he told accused. "You are all educated and are in a position of public trust. I hope the police will continue their work so that others involved may be found."

TO BE STOPPED

"We are going to stop this sort of thing," he declared.

"You know what I gave to a Chinese this week for a second offense," he said. "You'll get the same thing for I'm playing no favorites."

(Earlier this week Magistrate Beevor-Potts sentenced Mah Bing, a pint-sized elderly Chinese often called 'Dempsey,' to nine months in Oakalla and also imposed a $400 fine.)

Evidence was presented in court that Mrs. Ballam sold liquor to two members of the RCMP January 30. Lomass was accused of a similar offense February 6 and Miller on February 13.

Britain To Make Hydrogen Bombs

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Thursday night announced her decision to make hydrogen bombs in order to help prepare against the "risk of a world war and so prevent it."

The disclosure came in the annual government report on defense planning. It did not say whether production had started or if so, when an H-bomb would be tested.

After pointing out the United States and Russia are producing thermonuclear weapons, the report said: "The United Kingdom also has the ability to produce such weapons. After fully considering all the implications of this step, the government have thought it their duty to proceed with their development and production."

Prime Minister Churchill has told the House of Commons that he believed the U.S. Pacific atoll tests were more likely to produce peace than war. This theme ran through Thursday night's announcement.

Riddle Solved Without Help

LONDON (BUP) — Defense Minister Harold MacMillan said yesterday that Britain cracked the riddle of building hydrogen bombs without American or other outside help.

Nationalists Sink Red Landing Craft

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The defense ministry said Nationalist warcraft sank seven Communist landing craft in a sea battle early today between Nanchishan and Matsu islands northwest of Formosa.

The ministry said the Nationalist warships shot up a Communist convoy.

Three Red gunboats were set on fire and "possibly sunk," the ministry added. It said the gunboats were between 200 and 300 tons each.

The battle still was in progress at noon. (11 p.m. EST) Thursday the ministry said.

With the Tachens abandoned to the Reds, the Nationalists now consider Nanchishan their northern anchor.

It lies 22 miles off the Red China coast about 12 miles north of Formosa.

Matsu is a Nationalist-held island blocking Foochow port northwest of the northern tip of Formosa.

The sea action followed on the heels of an artillery exchange to the south in the Quemoy area.

Highway Appropriation Sets Provincial Record

The largest appropriation in the history of the province for highway construction and maintenance, about $44,000,000 this year, was announced last night by Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

Of this amount, $30,888,680 will be spent on capital construction and $13,104,543 on maintenance.

He said emphasis will be placed this year on elimination of level crossings and of bridges by putting in fill where possible.

Mr. Gaglardi defended the purchase of a second-hand amphibian aircraft for $49,000 (he said it would have cost $125,000 new) by saying that 50 per cent of the places he goes can only be reached by water.

Today's Chuckle

*What Has Ears But Can't Hear?

The federal government, provincial Liberals and the provincial government itself were the subjects when Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi unloosed a grab bag of rhymes, puns and jokes in the legislature last night.

"Ottawa may have its Howe, but B.C. has know how," he said.

"Ottawa may have its Winters, but we have our Sommers," he added.

On his road building, he said, "Phil fills them in with fills."

During his trip to Scotland, when he was told only Scotsmen could enter a room in a palace, Mr. Gaglardi said he became P. A. MacAroni.

To cap it all off, the B.C. political situation became

"There's nothing wacky in Bennett, there are no gags in Gaglardi and Laing rhymes with bang which is another word for a big noise."

Trial Judge Ponders Rebuttal

VANCOUVER (CP) — An important decision regarding rebuttal in the Lawrence Vincent murder trial was being made overnight by Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Vincent is facing his third trial for murder in the slaying of Donna Lee Corbett, 12, strangled at Quesnel in September 1953. He was convicted the first time and won a retrial.

In the second trial the jury became deadlocked.

Chief Justice Farris said, at the end of Thursday's session the case would probably go to the jury Saturday.

The defense concluded its case Thursday and the Crown made application to introduce rebuttal evidence.

The chief justice said he wished to consider the application overnight. "It is essential that everything be done to safeguard the accused."

Heart-Broken Mother Learns Husband Is Long-Lost Brother

HEREFORD, Eng. (Reuters) — A heart-broken 24-year-old mother of two children said Thursday night that after three years of marriage she discovered that her husband is her brother.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes said she left her husband four months ago when she found out he was the brother from whom she had been separated when she was orphaned at the age of three.

"Even if I have to work night and day I will never be parted from my two children," she said. Her lawyer announced that she will apply for an annulment of the marriage.

When Mrs. Hughes' parents died she and her brother Geoffrey were placed in different orphanages. Two years later she was adopted and her new parents changed her last name.

In 1948 she met a young man named Geoffrey Hughes at a local dance. They were married in 1951. Thursday night Mrs. Hughes said: "Just after the birth of my second child a woman told me my real name was Hughes.

"I went to the registrar of births, deaths and marriages at once and I found to my horror that Geoffrey was my brother . . .

"I parted from my husband the same morning about four months ago, and was hoping that it was all finished.

"Geoffrey was heart-broken, for he is devoted to the children. But we have never been together since. I don't know where he is."

Diefenbaker Lashes Out

Immigration 'Despotism' Under Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker Thursday charged the immigration department with arrogance, abuse of authority and despotic and high-handed methods.

The Progressive Conservative member for Prince Albert also renewed in the Commons his party's demand for a Royal commission into the immigration department, already rejected at this session by the government.

Mr Diefenbaker based the bulk of his attack on the fact that would-be immigrants barred entry in Canada are not given the reasons for being turned back.

He said there is bound to be some injustice and bumbling in the immigration department but "it is the first time bumbling has become the cornerstone of a policy."

Immigration Minister Pickersgill, in a two-hour speech, said some information about applicants who might be considered a danger to Canada's security comes from "sources not under government" on the understanding that the information is confidential and will not be made public.

That was one of the reasons he said why his department does not make public the reasons for rejecting immigrant applications.

The questionnaire which applicants must answer pries into their private lives, he said. If an application were rejected, that in itself was bad enough without having to disclose the reasons to lawyers or to relatives now in Canada.

The disclosure might be used for purposes other than trying to have the ruling reversed, he added.

Mr Diefenbaker speaking during a Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government on its immigration policy and administration, said no greater calumny has ever been leveled against the legal profession.

He charged that Mr Pickersgill has made a worse mess of the immigration department than the "mess" he inherited from Hon Walter Harris, now finance minister.

He quoted Chief Justice W B Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court as saying that "immigration officials are fooling the public."

That attitude extends to the most senior officials of the department, Mr Diefenbaker said.

Five Powers Set To Meet On Ten-Year-Old Deadlock

LONDON (Reuters) — A five-power disarmament conference which opens here February 23 will start with East and West apparently nearer to breaking their deadlock on the subject than at any time since the war.

But the 10 years of trying to reach a settlement with the Soviet Union on the question of control over atomic and hydrogen arms production has made British diplomats wary of predicting success.

The forthcoming conference, under United Nations auspices, will be attended by representatives of the big five atomic powers: Britain, France, the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union. Its outcome will be reported back to the disarmament commission of the United Nations.

Best omen for the conference is that, for the first time, the Soviet Union has agreed to discuss an Anglo-French plan covering both conventional arms and weapons of mass destruction.

SET AS BASIS

Three months ago at the United Nations the then Soviet delegate the late Andrei Vishinsky, accepted the Anglo-French plan as the basis of discussion for a further disarmament conference. Vishinsky made it clear however that the Soviet Union was not committed to the Western proposals and intended to submit others of its own.

The Soviet Union consistently has demanded that banning of weapons of mass destruction should be the starting point of world disarmament. While agreeing that international teams should have access to all countries, including the Soviet Union, to see that the ban is carried out, it has balked at the idea of giving the teams powers as wide as the Western nations want.

The Anglo-French plan, for instance, provides that the teams should have complete freedom of access to inspect any production centres which they wish to see. Their very title, control organ, shows that their role would be more than one of mere passive inspection.

What Has Ears But Can't Hear?★

The federal government, provincial Liberals and the provincial government itself were the subjects when Public Works Minister P A. Gaglardi unloosed a grab bag of rhymes, puns and jokes in the legislature last night.

"Ottawa may have its Howe, but B.C. has know how," he said.

"Ottawa may have its Winters, but we have our Sommers," he added.

On his road building, he said, "Phil fills them in with fills."

During his trip to Scotland, when he was told only Scotsmen could enter a room in a palace, Mr. Gaglardi said he became P. A. MacAroni.

To cap it all off, the B.C. political situation became "There's nothing wacky in Bennett, there are no gags in Gaglardi and Laing rhymes with bang which is another word for a big noise."

Royal Commission Set Up To Probe Gibson's Charges

BY RAY BAINES

Colonist Legislative Reporter

Repeated charges of irregularities in the issuance of forest management licenses resulted yesterday in the appointment of a Royal Commission of investigation.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced in a hushed house at the opening of yesterday's sitting that Vancouver county court Judge Arthur E Lord has been appointed a commissioner for the purpose of looking into the charges.

"Allegations have been made in the legislative assembly that there has been impropriety in connection with the issuance of forest management licenses," Mr Bonner read from an order in council passed at a hasty cabinet meeting yesterday morning. The commission will ascertain "whether or not there is any truth in such allegations and whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of forest management license."

The appointment is the culmination of an unprecedented series of events which result in the "naming" of Lillooet Liberal Gordon Gibson during Wednesday's sitting.

Mr. Gibson refused to withdraw charges that "money talks" in forest management license dealings. The previous day he had said that "somebody paid something to somebody and that he could not believe "money did not change hands."

But Mr. Gibson was back in his place yesterday. The attorney general's Wednesday motion that the rules be suspended to give him the opportunity to consider his decision resulted in his being allowed to return today.

The big Liberal yesterday called the appointment of a commissioner "a great victory" for the Liberal group. He also was unrepentent of the fact he had been the first MLA in the history of the B.C. legislature to be "named" and dismissed from the house.

He said he returned to his seat because he was "invited back by the Speaker."

"They must feel somebody blundered," he said.

Mr Gibson was informed by House Clerk Edwin de Beck that he was entitled to take his seat. His case has not actually been disposed of but it is likely

Victim Struck Dumb

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police ran into a new stumbling block Thursday in their investigation of the mystery blast that almost took the life of Jacob Leonhard, 37.

Detectives said the near-victim of an attempted gangland assassination was unable to talk due to paralysis of his speech mechanism.

Doctors attending Leonhard also said his condition is "much more serious" than suspected. They said he has a broken back, and may suffer loss of his broken right leg as a result of circulation stoppage.

Leonhard escaped death Tuesday night when a booby-trap explosion shattered his late model car, hurling pieces of metal over neighboring houses and shattering windows of surrounding homes.

Police said the search for the persons responsible for the blast was "definitely confined" to the Vancouver area.

Damage caused by the bomb-blast was placed Thursday at "between $5,000 and $6,000."

Highway Appropriation Sets Provincial Record

The largest appropriation in the history of the province for highway construction and maintenance—about $44,000,000 this year—was announced last night by Public Works Minister P A Gaglardi.

Of this amount, $30,888,680 will be spent on capital construction and $13,104,543 on maintenance.

He said emphasis will be placed this year on elimination of level crossings and of bridges by putting in fill where possible.

Mr. Gaglardi defended the purchase of a second hand amphibian aircraft for $49,000 (he said it would have cost $125,000 new) by saying that 50 per cent of the places he goes can only be reached by water.

Another Princess In News

LONDON (UP) — Britons who delight in "talking up" royal romances have found a stand-in for their favorite, Princess Margaret, who is busy touring the British West Indies.

She is Princess Alexandra, 18-year-old cousin of Margaret and Queen Elizabeth, who until now has been free from the chatter of "court circles" reporting new romances and "palace sources" denying them.

Alexandra, daughter of the late Duke of Kent, who died in 1942 and the Duchess of Kent, stands ninth in line to the British throne.

She flew to Northern Ireland yesterday—her third visit in less than a year to the stately Ulster home of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn.

The duke and duchess have a 21-year-old unmarried son—and the tongues began wagging even though the Marquess of Hamilton is in Germany on duty with the elite Grenadier Guards.

RCN Sailors Sail by Ban

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Two Durban cocktail lounges, which for years have refused to serve liquor to lower deck naval ratings, lifted their ban Wednesday night for men of the Royal Canadian Navy cruiser Quebec, here on a good will visit.

Managers of the drinking places served the Canadians after the ratings had protested they were shocked and humiliated by the ban.

Britain To Make Hydrogen Bombs

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Thursday night announced her decision to make hydrogen bombs in order to help prepare against the "risk of a world war and so prevent it."

The disclosure came in the annual government report on defense planning. It did not say whether production had started or if so, when an H bomb would be tested.

After pointing out the United States and Russia are producing thermonuclear weapons, the report said "The United Kingdom also has the ability to produce such weapons. After fully considering all the implications of this step, the government have thought it their duty to proceed with their development and production."

Prime Minister Churchill has told the House of Commons that he believed the U S Pacific atoll tests were more likely to produce peace than war. This theme ran through Thursday night's announcement.

Riddle Solved Without Help

LONDON (BUP) — Defense Minister Harold MacMillan said yesterday that Britain cracked the riddle of building hydrogen bombs without American or other outside help.

Court Crackdown Hits Bootleggers

(Special to the Colonist)

NANAIMO—A crackdown on bootleggers in Nanaimo was promised yesterday by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, who declared he was "playing no favorites" in efforts to stop the illegal liquor traffic.

In police court he told two taxi drivers and a woman taxi dispatcher, all convicted on bootlegging charges that a second offense would bring an automatic nine months in jail.

Harry Lomas, driver for Eagle Taxi, Edward Miller, driver and Mrs Gladys Ballam, dispatcher for City Taxi, were each fined $100 when they pleaded guilty to charges.

"Considerable trouble has been caused lately with the supply of liquor to Indians and juveniles," said Magistrate Beevor-Potts.

He said another locality (Chinatown) has often been blamed for selling bootleg liquor but he and the police have suspected for some time that most of the bootlegging done in town was "within 200 yards of my office."

"You people are much worse than the Chinese," he told accused. "You are all educated and are in a position of public trust. I hope the police will continue their work so that others involved may be found."

TO BE STOPPED

"We are going to stop this sort of thing," he declared.

"You know what I gave to a Chinese this week for a second offense," he said. "You'll get the same thing for I'm playing no favorites."

(Earlier this week Magistrate Beevor-Potts sentenced Mah Bing, a pint-sized elderly Chinese often called "Dempsey," to nine months in Oakalla and also imposed a $100 fine.)

Evidence was presented in court that Mrs. Ballam sold liquor to two members of the RCMP January 30. Lomass was accused of a similar offense February 6 and Miller, on February 13.

Heart-Broken Mother Learns Husband Is Long-Lost Brother

HEREFORD, Eng (Reuters) — A heart-broken 24-year-old mother of two children said Thursday night that after three years of marriage she discovered that her husband is her brother.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes said she left her husband four months ago when she found out he was the brother from whom she had been separated when she was orphaned at the age of three.

"Even if I have to work night and day I will never be parted from my two children," she said. Her lawyer announced that she will apply for an annulment of the marriage.

When Mrs Hughes' parents died she and her brother Geoffrey were placed in different orphanages. Two years later she was adopted and her new parents changed her last name.

In 1948 she met a young man named Geoffrey Hughes at a local dance. They were married in 1951. Thursday night Mrs Hughes said: "Just after the birth of my second child a woman told me my real name was Hughes.

"I went to the registrar of births, deaths and marriages at once and I found to my horror that Geoffrey was my brother . . .

"I parted from my husband the same morning, about four months ago and was hoping that it was all finished.

"Geoffrey was heart-broken for he is devoted to the children. But we have never been together since I don't know where he is."
